St. La Salle in Glory

THIS YEAR we are celebrating the 300th Anniversary of the birth of St. John Baptist de La Salle. In addition to this, we are commemorating the 50th Anniversary of his canonization. For this reason the year 1951 has been dedicated to him and called the La Sallian year.

Here at Central, we take pride in acknowledging him as the forerunner and founder of our own Christian Brothers. We can be sure that St. La Salle's most ardent desire was to see Catholic young men aspire for a place of high esteem in this world, while constantly progressing in the path to their eternal goal.

The cherished hope of this dedication is to proclaim to the world the admirable attainments brought about by the earnest endeavors of this Godly man.

The educational world thinks of him merely as the founder of the Christian Brothers. However, this is but one of his many accomplishments. Too few realize that, but for St. de La Salle and his many followers, education would still be in its darkest stages. During the early years of his life, St. La Salle saw that the schooling of young men was in an extremely sorry state. He determined that with the help of God, he would set about to remedy this. And remedy it he did. Today the fruits of his labors are manifold throughout the civilized world.

We of Central can be certain that we are receiving an education in which we are learning to seek out the soul. The more one learns in science, crafts, and letters—or anything for that matter—the closer one gets to God, who is the fountain of all knowledge. St. La Salle's righteous influence has motivated every phase of our school life.

 The early Brothers and their founder before the Shrine of Our Lady.
 The humility of St. John Baptist de La Salle is easily seen in this portrait. The humble saint gave away his vast patrimony to the poor so as to set an example for his followers.

The glory of St. La Salle in heaven is probably above conception of the human mind. After the vast amount of good work he did here on earth, we are sure he has a high seat in heaven.

Recently, Pope Pius XII in his Papal Brief, proclaimed St. John Baptist de La Salle, "Patron Saint of All Teachers." In his life span of about sixty years, he accomplished more in the field of Christian education than any other man. This saintly person was the first to inaugurate the idea of visual aid in the instruction of students. Another novel idea of St. de La Salle was the segregation of boys into classes of equal ability and to provide the same textbooks for all boys. His educational principles of the seventeenth century are the educational principles of today. The criteria of modern education owes its existence to this saintly man of Rheims, the Father of Modern Pedagogy.

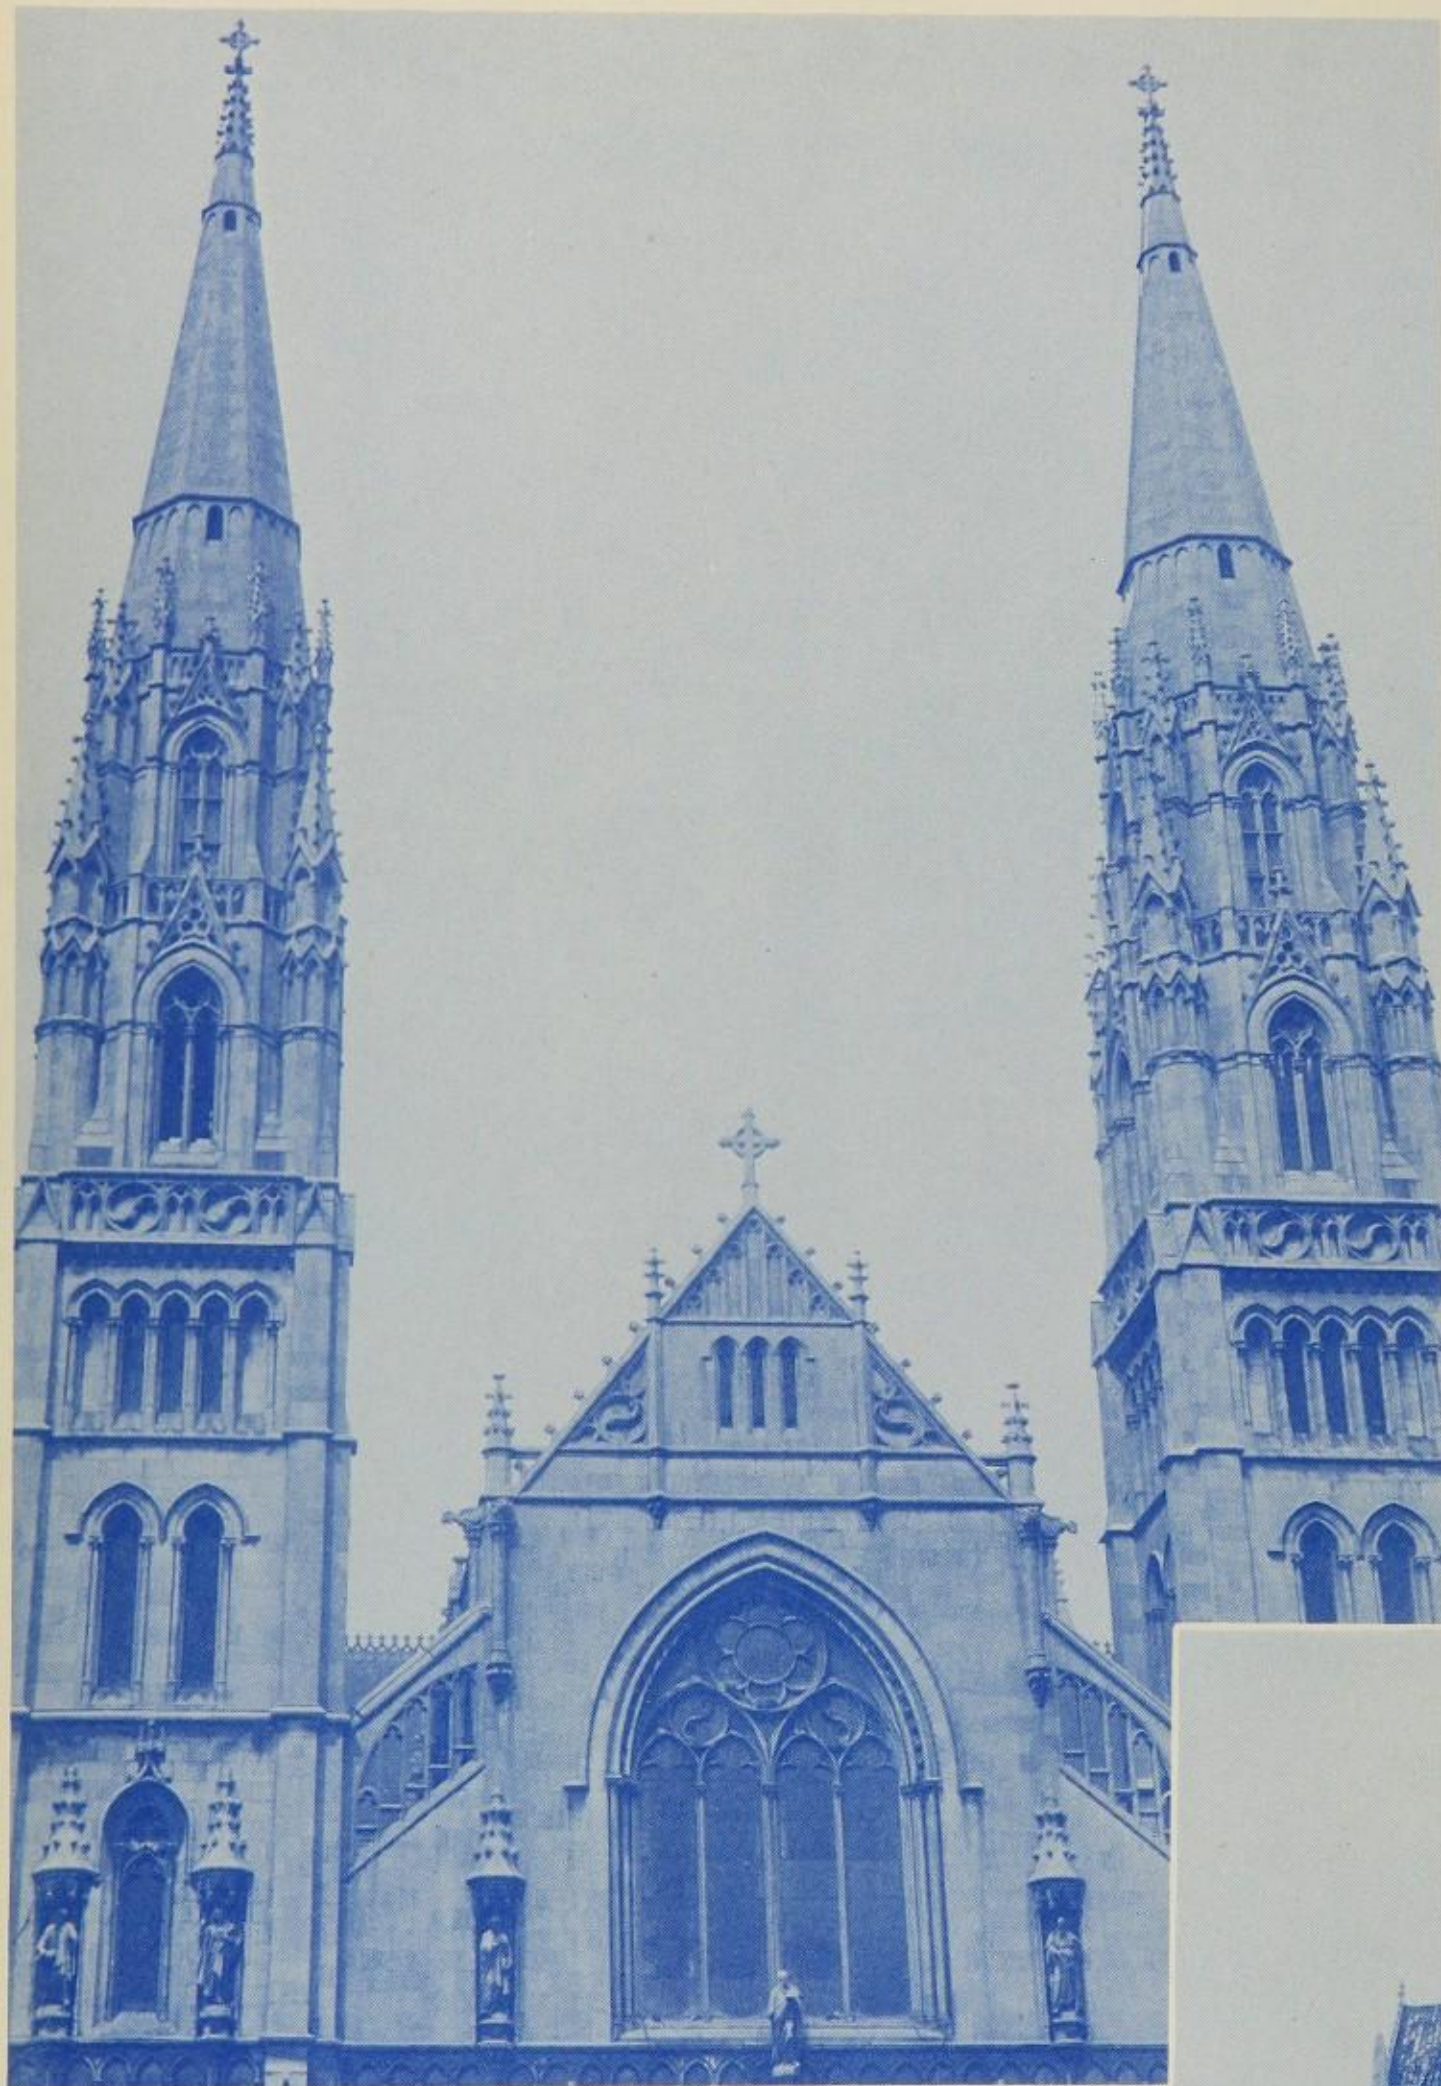

Wisdom Throughout

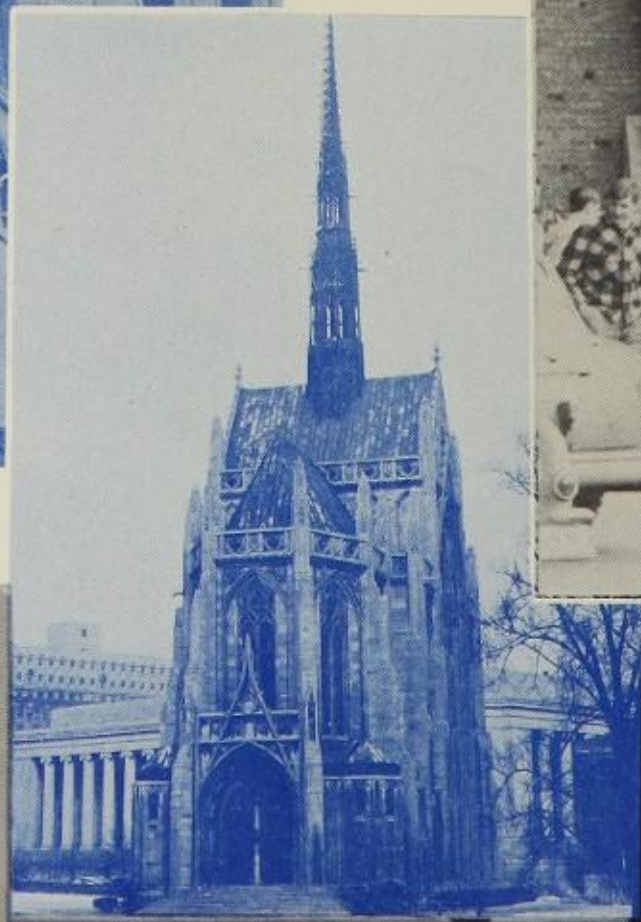

The World

It is justly fitting and proper that St. de La Salle should have a year dedicated in his honor. God has given the Christian world few men of his caliber. Among those few St. de La Salle stands out in virtue. Because of the saintly devotion of his life to God, young boys, and education, this year is set aside in his memory. Throughout the La Sallian Year, all the students of Central Catholic should make a special effort to show their devotion to him. Even after graduation, the esteem of St. John Baptist de La Salle should remain in the hearts of these students.

St. Paul's Cathedral, which is the episcopal seat of the diocese, is one of the most magnificent edifices in the country. Its Gothic structure serves to delineate the beauty and culture of our city. St. Paul's is truly a manifestation of the homage that men owe their creator.

Environment

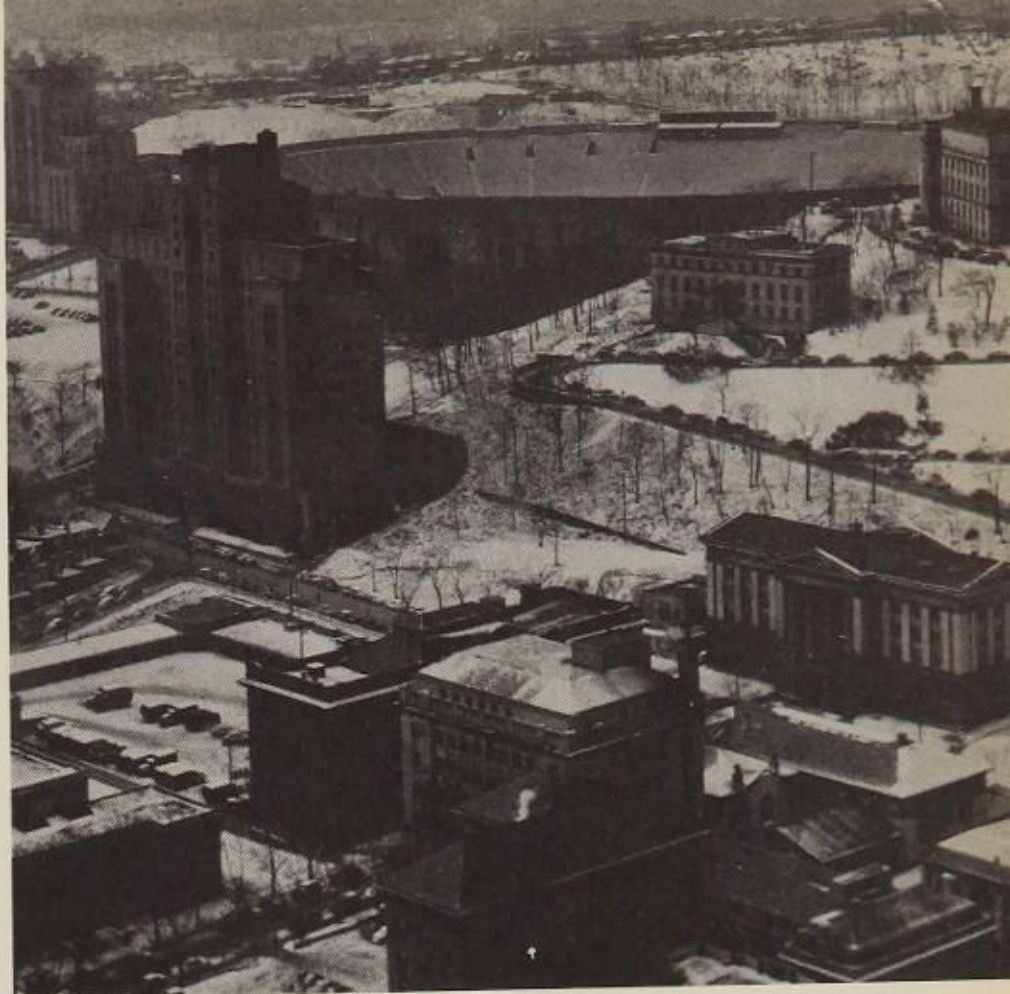

"Two blocks from the school"—these familiar words will ring in Central graduates' ears long after graduation. Beyond these two blocks are the homes of some 1600 students who daily pass in and out of the great dividing line, never noticing the buildings they pass, and the street they are on.

Streets that contain some of the greatest educational institutions established. Carnegie Institute of Technology is one of the highest engineering schools in the country. The University of Pittsburgh and Duquesne are respected highly in the fields of medicine and pharmacy.

Pittsburgh's steel mills and factories have made it internationally known as the "workshop of the world."

Our own great St. Paul's Cathedral, illustrates the cities attitude toward the spiritual aspects of life.

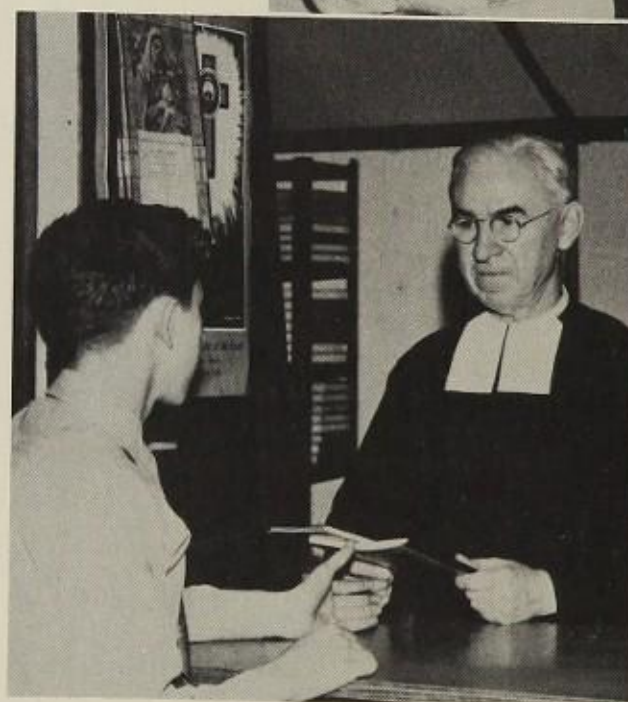

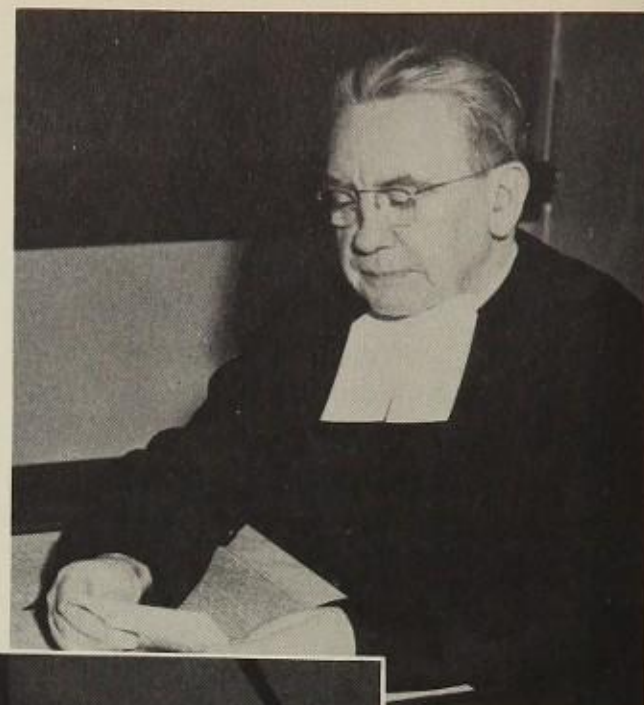

These religious, industrial, and educational attributes make Pittsburgh the great Metropolis it is today.

An unusual winter view of a familiar scene in Oakland that illustrates the prominent role this active center plays in the athletic, civic, and educational program of Pittsburgh.

Daily after lunch, with the exception of inclement weather, this familiar scene is depicted. This stroll helps to take the strain and tension from the serious business of our tedious academic schedule. In addition, it gives the fellows a chance to visit the Chapel and tell God their troubles and ask His aid. Here, the students are heard discussing what's what in and out of school. Many of the friendships which continue throughout life are formed while walking around the campus.

THROUGH TWELVE MONTHS of the year the Christian Brothers are motivated by the objectives of their inspired founder, St. John Baptist de la Salle. The fruit of their labor is men, such as those who will be graduated this June. During four years at Central the Brothers have instilled into the minds of these students certain principles and ideals which will be used again and again in their spiritual and temporal life. Many times they will think back and remember the Brothers and the invaluable knowledge they gained from them. We are more than fortunate to have as teachers the Christian Brothers.

The Guiding Light For

In Memoriam

MOST REVEREND HUGH C. BOYLE

The late Bishop, our beloved Bishop Boyle, was head of the Pittsburgh Diocese for over one quarter of a century. Coming here many years ago as a young man, he devoted his lifetime to service and building his cherished Community and diocese. He became nationally famous for his great deeds of charity, vision for enterprise, and ingenuity of action and accomplishment.

He was loved by all creeds for his wonderful character, goodness of mind and great humility.

MOST REVEREND JOHN DEARDEN

Bishop of Pittsburgh

The Most Reverend John Francis Dearden, the newly invested Bishop of Pittsburgh, has already shown a special interest in the students of Central Catholic. Known for his enthusiastic work in the education of Catholic youths, the Bishop has made Catholic education in Pittsburgh, one of his personal assignments.

Our Scholastic Achievement

Father Quigley is constantly on the alert to bring to his Diocesan schools new progressive programs. His revision of courses and methods has won for him outstanding recognition among school superintendents.

REV. FATHER THOMAS J. QUIGLEY Superintendent of Diocesan Schools

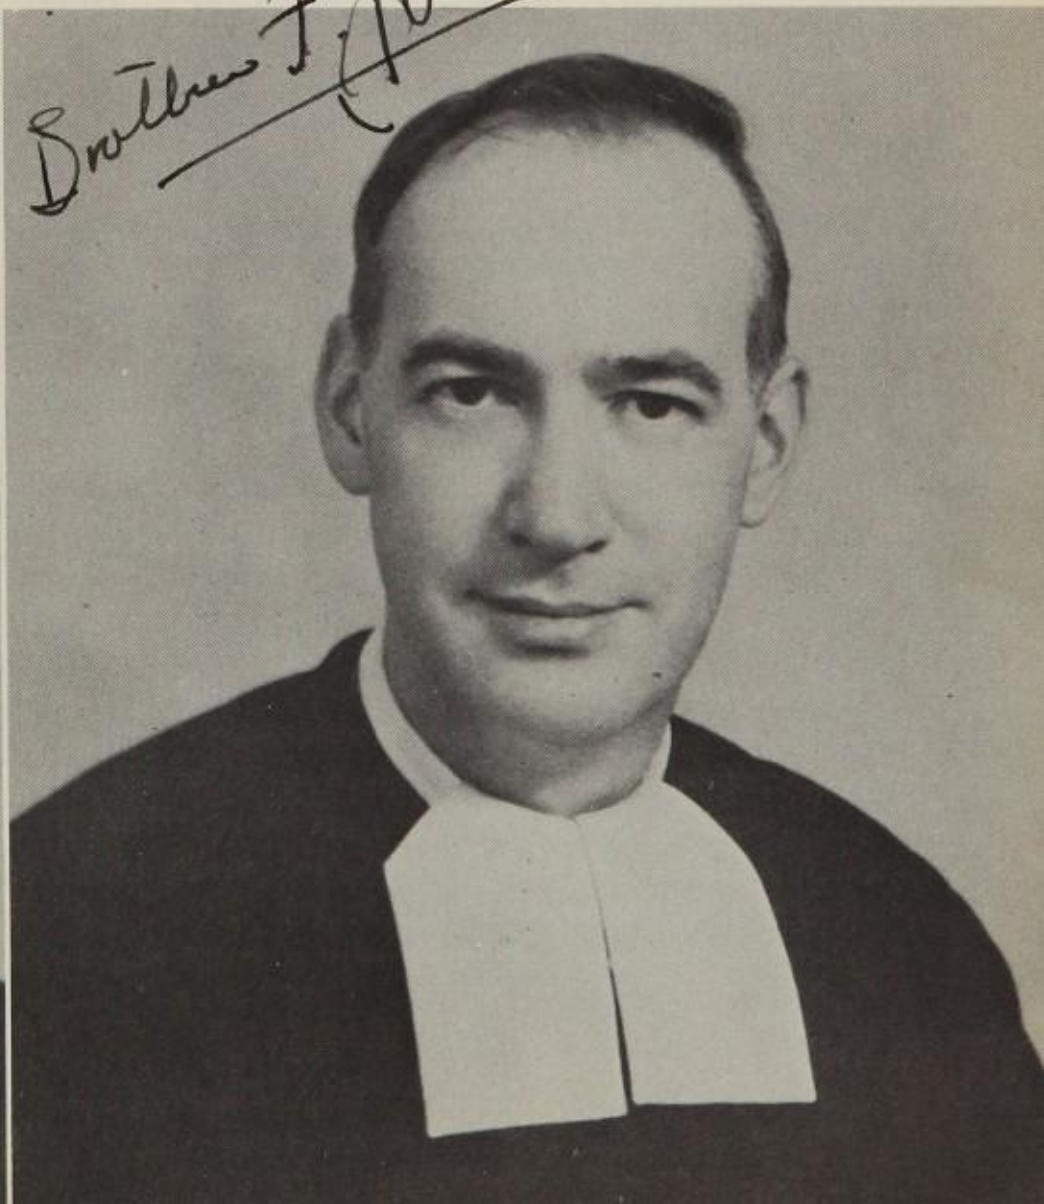

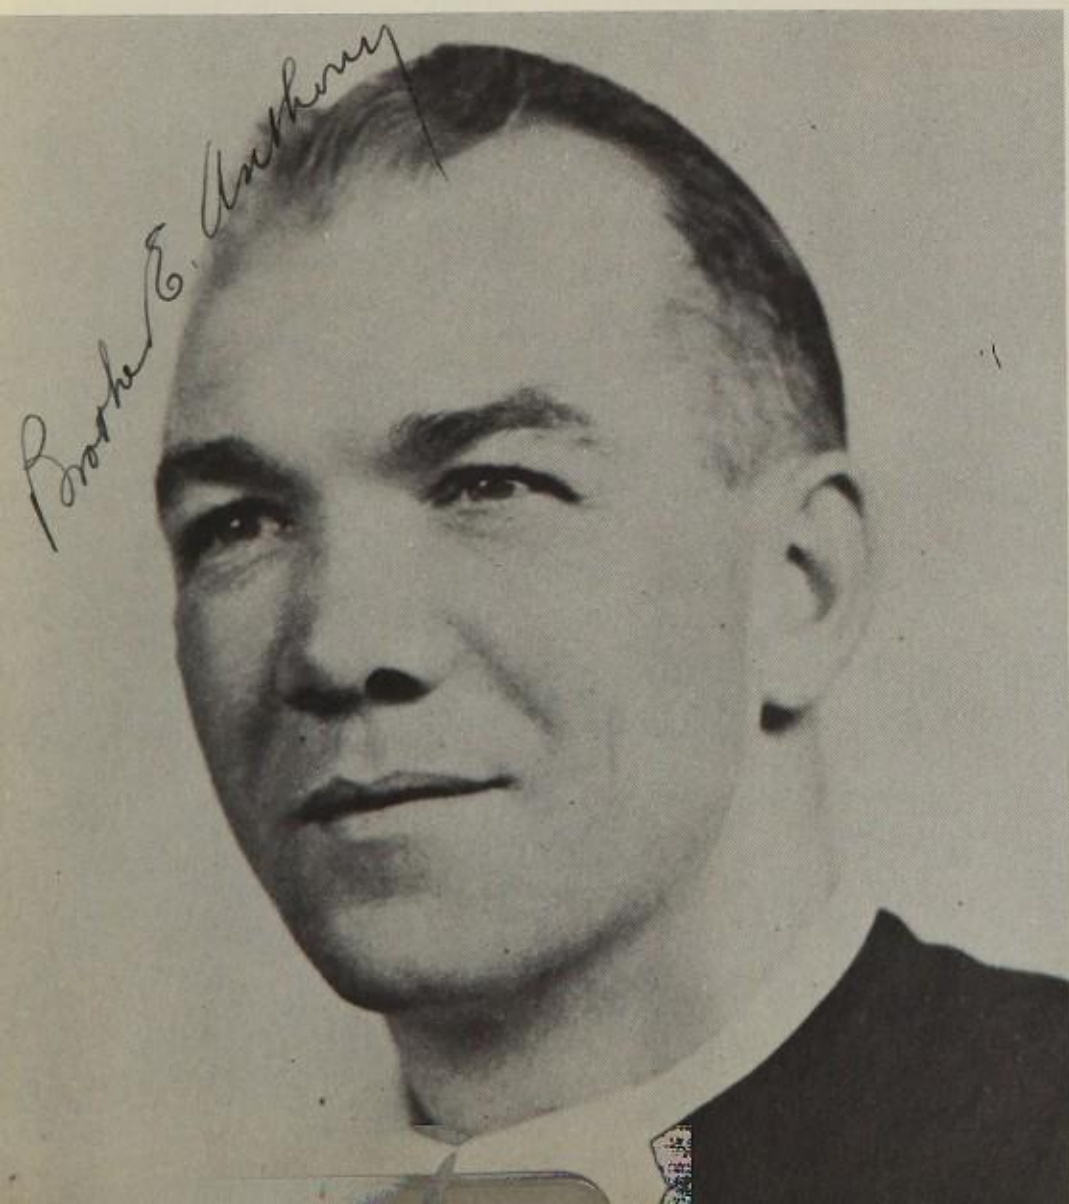

Being Superintendent of the Schools of the Diocese of Pittsburgh is in itself no small job. But Father Thomas J. Quigley has not let his many duties push his interest in the academic extra-curricula activities of the students of the diocese into the shadows.

We are deeply indebted to Father Quigley for helping us to prepare for the uncertain future. The programs which he has been conducting throughout the diocese certainly show his enthusiasm in making our days in school more beneficial to us.

No one is more concerned about the ultimate success of Central students than our principal. Brother Anthony's energy and enthusiasm for scholastic accomplishment are traits that all recognize and strive to imitate.

Our new vice-principal, Brother John, has already won the admiration and praise of every Centralite. Every student has benefitted from his calm deliberation in helping us with our problems.

Our Inspiration

Among the Brothers who daily instruct the seniors in various subjects are some of the most brilliant men in the field of education. Although they have no B.S., B.A., or Ph.D. after their names, many Christian Brothers do have such degrees. After graduation, Central men are accepted in the business, educational and social world with an understanding that, as Central grads, they have an outstanding background of ability. This is one of the greatest acclamations of the teaching ability of such scholars . . . THE CHRISTIAN BROTHERS.

"Roger," "wilco," "over and out," these words are now an immediate part of Brother Gregory's vocabulary. Many happy minutes are spent conversing on his set with the registered "hams."

Central Catholic is proud of the many advantages which a Catholic education furnishes every student who attends this school. Such an education is possible only because the teachers are Christian Brothers. This organization of select men was founded in 1684 by Saint John Baptist de la Salle, and to this day, the rules that he laid down are followed. The Brothers instruct the students under them in both spiritual and temporal needs. Their principal desire is that every young man who graduates from Central be a fine example of a Christian gentleman. With this in mind, we, as students of Central, should do our best to follow the high ideals and splendid example of these Christian Brothers.

Every festival in the calendar of the church is solemnized with appropriate liturgical music. The Brothers enjoy the distinction of being excellent interpreters of the finest religious music sung at all Chapel devotions. The feasts provide opportunities for the Brothers to add beauty and devotion through the Masses that are sung by the Brother's Choir.

Motivating La Sallian Ideals

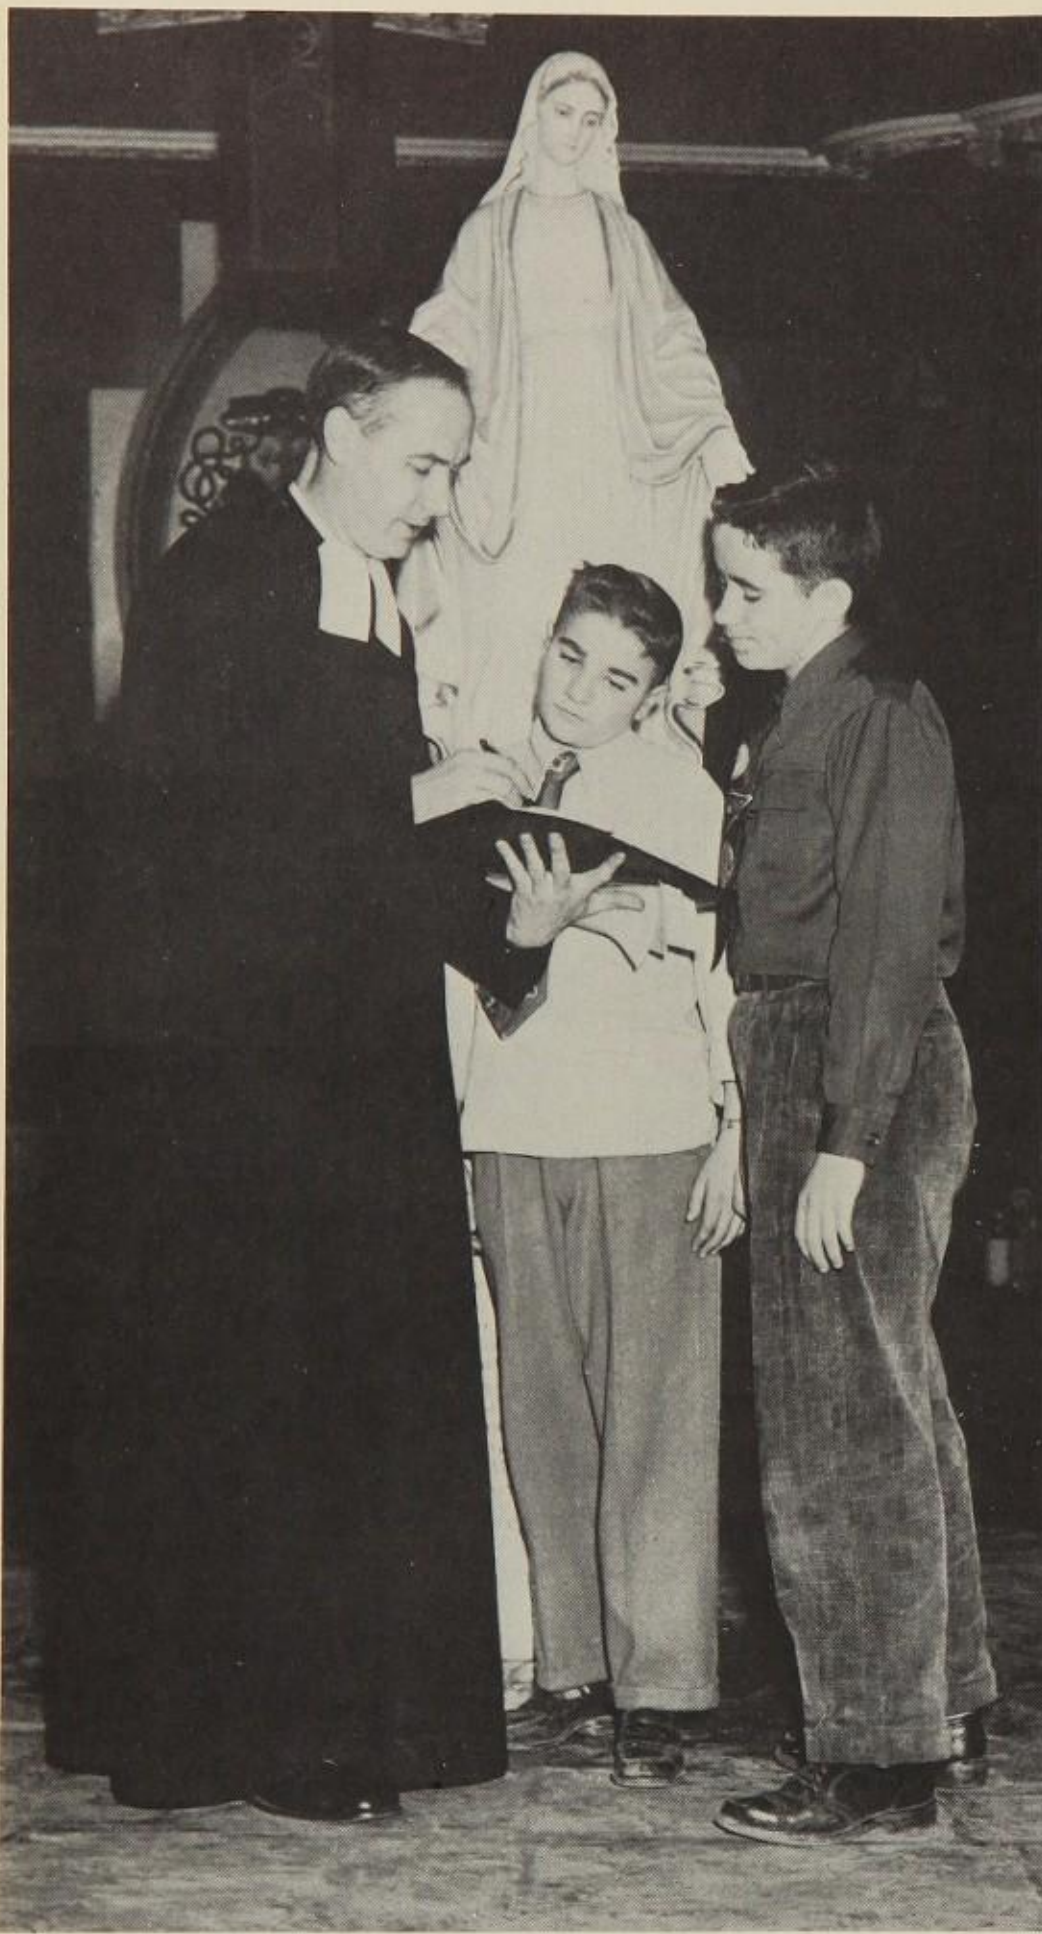

LAY TEACHERS

Central has always been blessed with an excellent group of lay teachers. These Catholic men are most capable teachers and also set a fine example to us of the Catholic man in the world. These men and women have been graduated from some of the foremost colleges and universities. They are well trained in the field of education, which can be proved by their promising students.

In the cycles of sports, science, education, business training and social interests, we, as the graduates before us, recognize the important role which the faculty plays. Although they join in with the boys and work with them side by side, they are always respected. There is a sincere relationship between the lay teacher and the student. These teachers are to be commended on their fine job of making men out of boys.

Brother Austin, a well known personage at Central, is caught in the act of administering his many guidance duties. His assistance to seniors is both spiritual and temporal.

*J*UST HOW do the Brothers mold a group of bewildered boys into Catholic men in four years? As freshman we were gently but firmly led through the transitional period. In our sophomore year, we began to enjoy being educated. As juniors, we chose the course which suited our future. At the start of our senior year, we were amazed to discover that the polish which the Brothers had tried so hard to coat us with had finally taken hold. The four years add up to a solid preparation for life. Just one question remains unanswered: "Just how do the Brothers do it?"

In Memoriam

Harry Rambacher

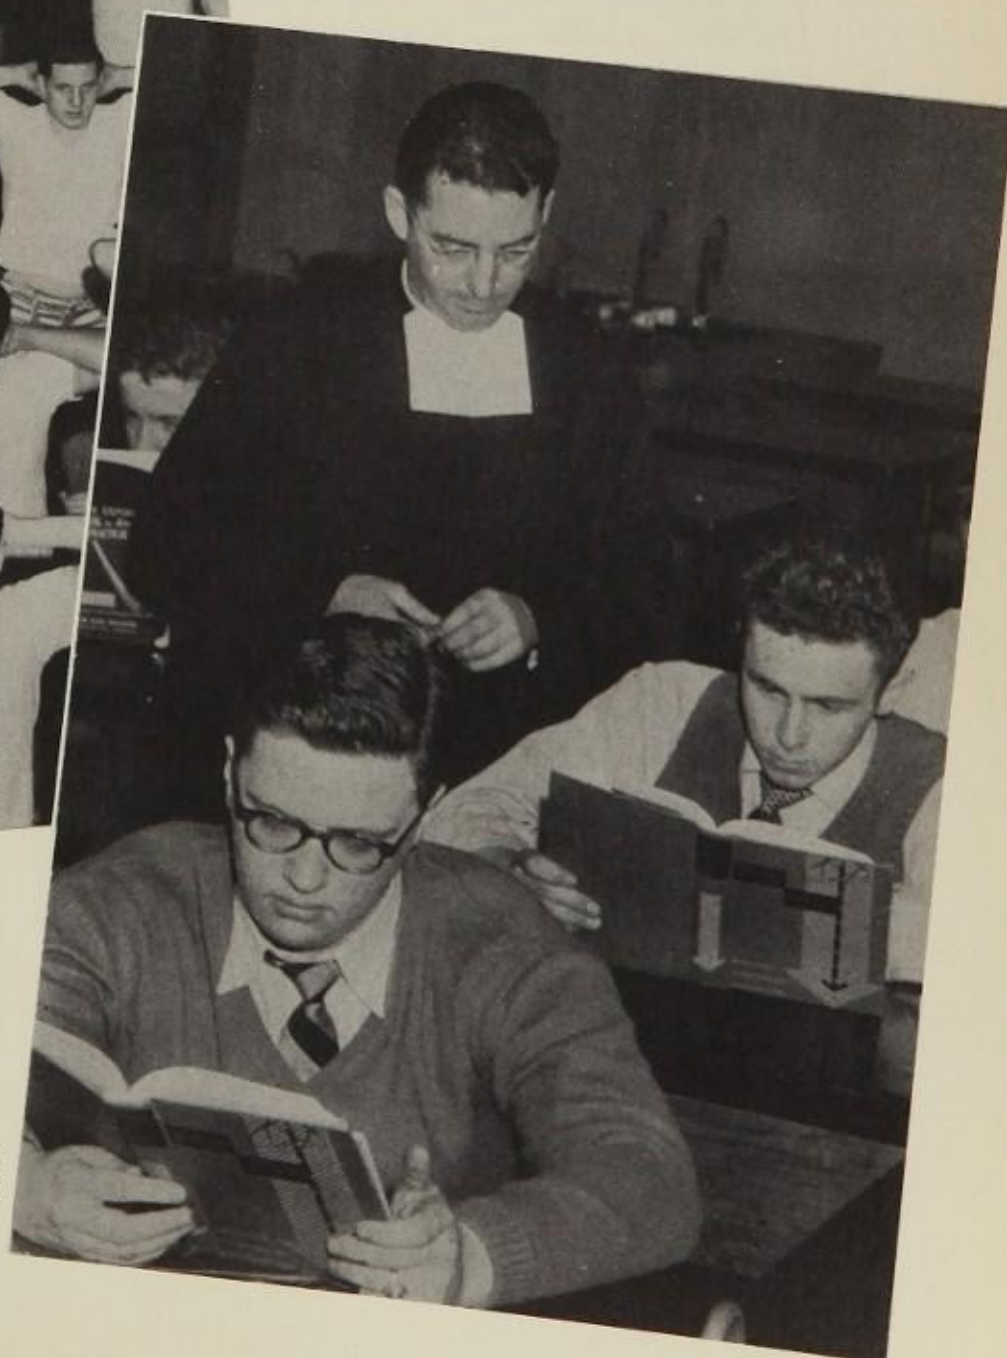

William Meshanko

When the class of '51 graduates there will be two empty places, not just in the auditorium, but in hearts of many of the boys about to receive their diplomas. These places will be left vacant for the memory of "Bill" and "Buz." They were favored to be relieved of the worries of the world to enjoy the happiness and security of heaven. "Buz" and "Bill" were inseparable in this world. We may rest assured that they are now enjoying their friendship with God in Heaven.

"At the count of three begin!" One of the most enjoyable periods of the week. The gym classes are not only loads of fun but healthful too. (Caption prepared by J. Penzelik.)

Brother Gabriel hovers over McCague and McGough to help them solve some perplexing problems in physics. It's easy to work when experts lend us such a helpful hand.

A PLEASANT DIVERSION from the burdensome and monotonous schedule of school is the program of extra-curricular activities. The clubs and organizations do a fine job in relieving the tension of the classroom.

The many students who take advantage of this remarkable activity program will attest to its benefits. There is nothing like it to develop the hidden talent of Central students. Many friendships are made through the participation in activities. Long after graduation, one may forget the knowledge he has accumulated at Central, but one will always remember the happy times he has had in his special activity.

THE VIKING

Central District Catholic High School, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The coverage of news in and out of Central is provided in the form of the "Viking"! It brings us word of what is going on in the outside world, it serves as a who's who, and gives us the local sports coverage. The staff of this proud institution at Central worked many long days and nights to bring the students the news of different interests. The paper was handled very capably under the guidance of Brother Bernardine, the moderator, and Richard Ford, the Editor-in-Chief. The home office of this publication is located on the third floor. It is really a place of peace and quiet. The staff is usually running around trying to meet a deadline. Most of them will be dreaming a year from now of layout sheets, deadlines to be met, lost excuse slips, and misplaced articles. The Viking of 1950 was acclaimed by all as one that could never be equaled, but the 1951 edition proved to be just as good, maybe even better. All of us will remember, and reserve a little spot in our memory for "THE VIKING."

Central Catholic's monthly publication, the "Viking," is a sounding board for the likes and dislikes, the puns and wisecracks, and above all, the genial attitude of the student body toward faculty, studies, and their fellow classmates. On the staff of the "Viking" we find a mixture of every type of student. In the picture below, you will be able to pick out those that are serious, the happy-go-lucky guy, and, of course, the fellow who leans to the clownish side of life. This accounts for the variety of the "Vikings."

Couriers Of Current Events

Editors Ford, Melley, and Harris iron out one of the many "bugs" that turn up, as they prepare to send another edition of the "Viking" to the presses.

Croft, Ford, and Harris—"Three Wheels" of the "Viking"—ponder with deep satisfaction the fruit of last month's labor. These smiles will fade at the very mention of next month's deadline.

Joe Melley and John Anthony who are credited with the lens-life of Central's "Viking," are always on the loose catching the thrilling moments of school life in pix.

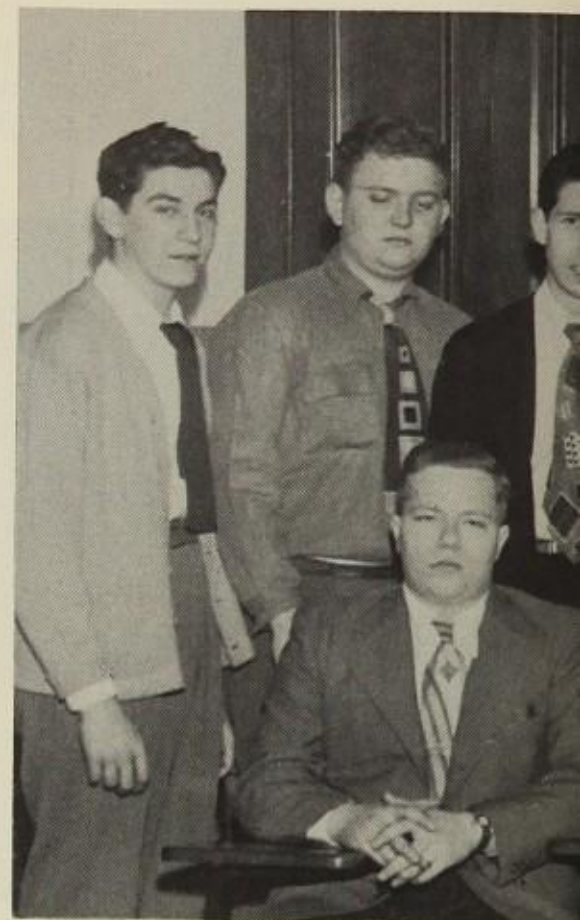

Kelly, Mikzan, Hill, Harris, Ford, Croft, and Briley (seated), look over some of the "journalistic jumbles" that will go into the next edition. Many such editorial sessions spell "Viking" success.

TOWERS

Realizing the necessity for an early start, Mr. Einloth, "Towers" moderator, appointed his staff early in October. The responsibilities and duties were equally distributed among the staff to prevent undue burdens on the editors. During these first few months, the preliminary plans were made, and the editors selected their assistants. They began working vigorously toward the publication of the "Towers." Hundreds of photographs were taken and articles on every phase of Central activity were recorded.

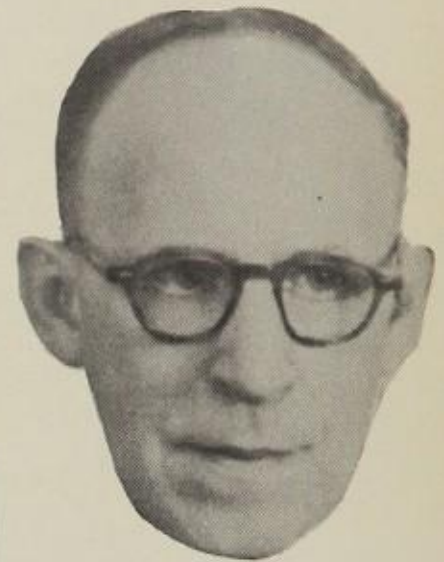

The La Sallian Year, in honor of Saint John Baptist de la Salle, was chosen as the theme for the "Towers." Its cover was decided upon with much deliberation, and the book was dedicated to the founder of the Christian Brothers.

BAND

Because of its popularity and real interest, the musical department is one of the largest organizations in the school. The band comprises the largest section of this department. Along with its musical skill, the "51" band will long be remembered for its success in performing original and intricate formations between halves at the football games, especially during intermission time at the North-Central game. Brother Mutien, moderator, and Mr. Ted Lamb, director, are directly responsible for the many successful appearances of Central's Band.

One of the most enthusiastic personages within the walls is Mr. Ted Lamb. The musical programs that he has presented have been a tribute to him and his organization.

GLEE CLUB

No, this is not Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, but it is Brother Benedict and some of the staunchest voices of his famous glee club. Ranked as one of the leading choruses in the tri-state area, they have performed at such social functions as the Lower Pittsburgh Ping-Pong Play-offs and the Allegheny River Skiff Meets. Seriously, we will remember the glee club for their brilliant work in our operettas, minstrels and assemblies. The backbone of our school spirit, their songs will always remain in our happiest recollections of high school experiences. Back row, left to right : D. Joganic, V. Kelly, F. Boslett, M. Takach, F. Masters Of Melody

A group of the younger members taking a businessman's holiday. They are amusing themselves between practices by harmonizing their favorite songs. In a year or two these boys will be the senior members of the Glee Club.

GLEE CLUB

One of the most popular extra-curricular activities is our Glee Club. It is under the capable direction of Mr. Robert Angel and Brother F. Benedict. Our choral group has been made known to the students by their appearances at assemblies.

In the annual school operetta, the Glee Club plays an important role. From its ranks the chorus is formed, and most of the soloists are selected. Our operetta could not be so successful unless the Glee Club supplied such excellent star performers.

This achievement is brought about only by the many hours of practice spent twice weekly in room 412. Central is indeed fortunate to have representing it on many occasions these fine talented songsters. They have done different types of shows and have always rendered an excellent account of themselves.

Rhapsodians

BLUE KNIGHTS

The Blue Knights is one of the most popular groups that make up the musical department here at Central Catholic. During the past year, they have contributed to the entertainment of the Men's Club, the Mothers' Guild and the student assemblies. Besides these appearances, they also made a public appearance at Duquesne University. There they presented a program of popular music on Duquesne's comparatively new radio station WDUQ.

The Blue Knights were founded several years ago by its present director, Mr. Ted Lamb. Composed of students possessing outstanding musical ability, there are added improvements and talent discovered each year. The latest is the accordion section, comprised of six accomplished accordionists. From the popularity it has gained in recent years, we can predict a still greater future for this exceptional group of musicians.

Ted Lamb's be-bop beaters are caught by the birdie man during one of their more serious sessions. The Blue Knights, under the direction of the able Mr. Lamb, never fail to thrill the student body with their mellow rhapsodies. This selected group from Lamb's flock, make up Central's secular musicians. These Whitman style warblers, who play in a manner much reminiscent of the "Great Paul," are Central Catholic's pride and joy. Take a bow fellows!

Bob Diciero, a well-liked Blue Knights veteran, coaches Russ Grosso and Ed Dettling as they try a duet, while Don Guyker, a hopeful Sophomore, looks on.

The Path To Honor

SCIENCE HONOR SOCIETY

Under the competent guidance of Brother Gregory Nazianzen, the Science Honor Society has become one of the better known clubs here at Central. Composed of honor students from the Catholic high schools of Pittsburgh, it has two aims: to arouse scientific interest in its members, and to promote social programs. Interesting lectures are given by prominent scientific men, invited to speak at the meetings which are held bi-monthly. Occasionally, dances are held afterwards at the high school selected by the moderator. Every year, a large dance is held at Duquesne University's gym.

HISTORY HONOR SOCIETY

To some Central Students, the History Period (much to the dismay of some Brothers), is the favorite time to catch up on lost sleep.

However, most boys find History a means of obtaining a good foundation in American Principles, and spend their periods in a more profitable manner.

From this group are chosen those boys who have shown exceptional interest in history, and are invited to join the History Honor Society. Through many social gatherings and meetings, this group is kept well informed on current events and the democratic way of life.

Brother Gregory, moderator of the Science Honor Society, gives with one of his famous jovial sayings, as he comments on the society emblem. "Smiles" Ziolkowski is President of the honorary group.

Members of one of Central's select activities, the History Honor Society, pose for the 1951 "Towers" photographer. Under the guidance of Mr. M. Trichtinger, these historically minded boys, with an elevated standard of American principles flowing through their proud veins, represent Central to a high degree in the district's various historical and social functions.

Dick Toth and Bill McGladigan look through Brother Austin's information concerning various colleges and careers. They are trying to decide what their future state in life should be.

The Future

THE BENILDE CLUB

The Benilde Club was formed here at Central by Brother Austin about three years ago. Its main objective is to give to boys, here at Central, the opportunity of investigating the nature of the religious life and the priesthood. Many have the idea that to be a member, you must have a vocation to the religious life. However, this is not true, for the club is also for the purpose of guidance. It gives its members an intelligent outlook on the religious life, independently of joining one. Meetings are held throughout the year; during which, discussions are given concerning subjects of interest to all. There is no publicity for the club, and no offices, awards or letters are given. During the past year, the club aided the Diocesan Vocation Conference and was called upon to make various exhibits. The fine spirit shown by the members of the Benilde Club is an excellent example to all Catholic youth, for every boy who is graduated from a Catholic school should have the correct outlook concerning the various aspects of the religious life.

These talented boys are among those responsible for the colorful displays seen around the school.

Standing: Jack Crain, 3JC; Bernard Ludwig, 5SS; Thomas Coughenour, 3S; Richard O'Connor, 1S; Frank Ruperto, 4SC; John Quinn, 4SC. Seated: Eugene Venture, 9S; Robert Martzo, 2S; Howard LaFianza, 3S; Joseph Senko, 2S; Louis Haugh, 6S; Alex. Pietryzk, 1S; Joseph Bosta, 2S.

The Art Club prepares a display on the wall around the bookstore. This display is intended to heighten the Viking spirit among the students. The Art Club, under the capable direction of Brother G. Edward, has posted many displays on this wall during the year.

Hammer! Nails! Saw! Yes, these are familiar words as the Stage Crew goes to work. Under the fine direction of Brother Felician John, these backstage handymen have done much to produce fine props for many a good show.

Behind the Scenes

The men behind the scenes. Seldom do these students receive the reward and glory due to them. Some outstanding crewmen are: Jimmy Shea, Richard Mountel, Burke Juges, and Paul O'Donnell. Their only reward is the delight of viewing the success of a stage production.

"It's queen for queen and pawn for pawn" as members of the Chess Club match wits while Brother G. William looks on. This same familiar scene is depicted daily in the school cafeteria at 2:45, where practice sessions are held. As depicted above, Larry Geisler, matched with John "Johnnycake" Perri, while Max Mueller takes on William Stephens.

The Chesty "Chess"-todians

CHESS CLUB

This year Central did not sponsor a Chess Club until after the league had started. Brother William, Moderator of the club, was concentrating on the Chess Team, which has belonged to the Western Pennsylvania Scholastic League since the organization of that group. Instead of remaining in the same local section as in preceding years, Central has been given new opponents as the schedule shows. Central placed second this year in their section. The Viking Chessmen are: Max Mueller 5JS, William Stephens 1JC, John "Johnny Cake" Perri 2SS, Roger Mulvihill 7F, Larry Geisler 3S, and John Haut 7F.

"Johnnycake" Perri calmly awaits as his opponent, Bill Stevens, innocently walks into a trap. All the boys in the Chess Club learn patience, as shown by Perri.

Members of this year's Chess Club discuss plans and work out strategic battle movements as they prepare for a vigorous clash of wits with their fellow teammates.

Always Be Prepared

THE SCOUTING CLUB

Under Brother Gedeon Charles, its founder and moderator, the Scouting Club outlines a very active program. They divide their club time between swimming, bowling, and various camping trips. The spiritual side is also observed. On a specified Sunday, they hold their Communion Breakfast. After the breakfast, a complete schedule of activities including basketball, swimming, bowling, movies and lunch takes place.

The Central Catholic Mens' Club was recently formed as a counterpart to the Mother's Guild. The Mens' Club plans to sponsor many projects for the benefit of Central students.

CENTRAL CATHOLIC MEN'S CLUB

Although this organization is the newest club in our school's history, their program is replete with outstanding accomplishments. In September, the official Central Catholic Hand Book which we received, was printed and distributed by them. Central will be the beneficiary of other far-reaching projects that interest the Men's Club.

Our Student Council, led by the capable Frank DeCarlo, has accomplished one of the best jobs in the government's history. Assisting Frank in this organization were: Ed Totin, Jim Guttendorf, Rees James and the rest of the school class presidents. They help to run the school in an orderly, systematic way. The newly acquired armbands gave the members an official look even though the S.C. on them was humorously referred to as "Senior Commandoes." Besides planning assemblies and keeping order, the Student Council brings a closer union between the faculty and the students. Our Council was, this year as in other years, one of the notes in the harmony of everyday school life.

President Frank DeCarlo is surrounded by the members of his cabinet: Rees James, Treasurer; Jim Guttendorf, Secretary; and Ed Totin, Vice-President. These stern looking, able-bodied fellows have proven themselves as more than satisfactory middlemen between the faculty and the student body.

Artful Arbitrators

DEBATING CLUB

Under the able direction of Brother Joseph, Senior English teacher, the Debating Club does an admirable job of preparing its members for future life. To succeed in practically every branch of society, a person must be able to express himself fluently. Debating furnishes the best training in this line. A debator not only has to speak clearly and intelligently, but he must also be on the alert to pick out any fault in his opponent's reasoning.

Almost everyone, at one time or another, finds himself in a position, where he must present his opinion in such a way, that anybody who is listening will be convinced. For many people, this is difficult, and the only way to overcome the difficulty is to practice. Here at Central, the Debating Club gives every student a chance to acquire this self-confidence and practice in public speaking.

Orators in the making? Could be. For these members of the Debating Club, through the guidance of Brother Joseph and the experience gained from inter-scholastic debates, master tactful oration.

The effective thinking demanded in public speaking and debating is made possible through study, exchange of thought and research. These boys will attest to that fact: Michael Nee, Robert Hill, Daniel McGrath, Gerry Haluck, Howard Obman, James McGuire, Robert Martzo.

The Central Catholic's Mother's Guild is to be commended on the excellent work they have done for the benefit of the school. By participating in activities to raise money, these women have helped to defray expenses not only here but also at Ammendale.

A boy's best friend is his mother. The Mothers' Guild of Central has a proud record of successful enterprises to prove this little epigram. By their inspired handling of their sons' social and financial problems, the mothers have won the admiration of everyone. With Brother E. Anthony, moderator, this outstanding group of Catholic mothers sponsors the annual Junior Prom. The Guild has offered assistance to talented boys in furthering their education. Each year finds the Mothers Guild planning and promoting successful activities.

"All I Have I Owe . . ."

The officials of the Mother's Guild are: Mrs. Mary Sette, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Mary Lippke, President; Mrs. Elvira Winter, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Veronica Larkin, Treasurer.

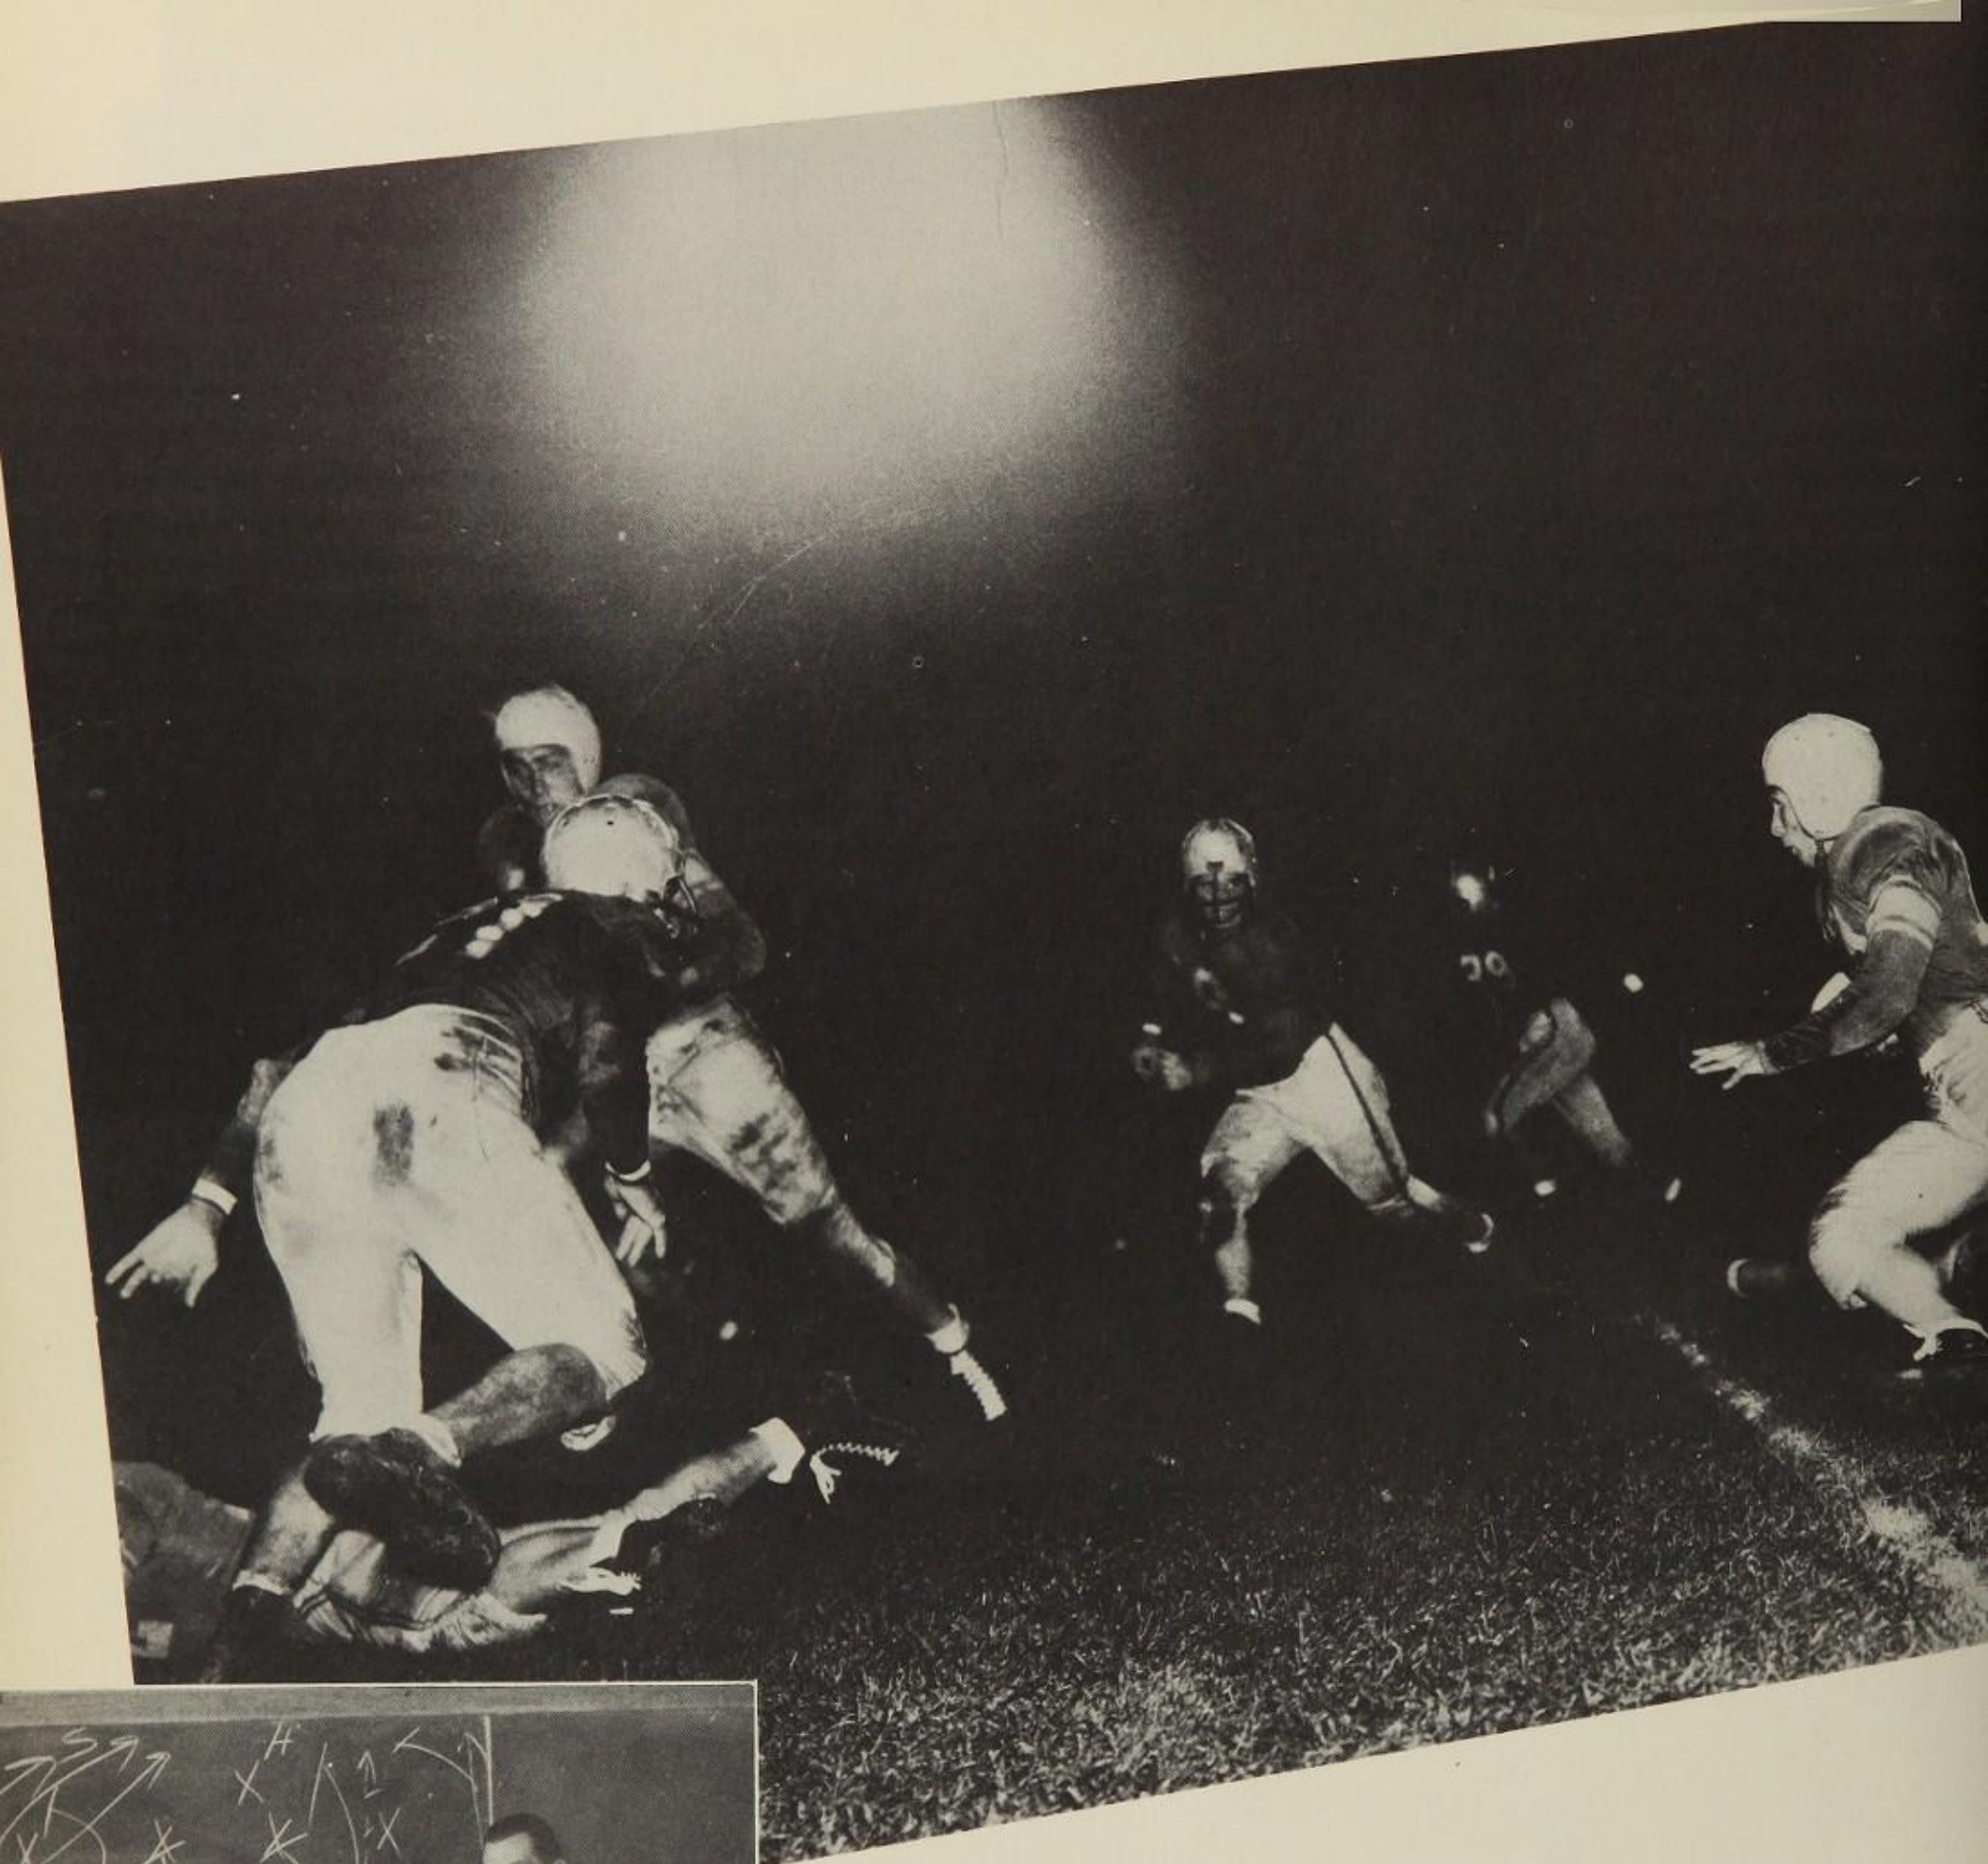

SPORTS ARE a necessary factor in the American way of life. Many famed educators have cited athletics as playing a major role in the molding of our country's youth. It is for that reason that all schools, large and small, provide an athletic program of some degree. At Central Catholic, although it must bow to scholastic mandates, sports have always been stressed. In 1950-51 the school fielded varsity squads in football, basketball, track, cross-country, swimming, bowling and tennis. A heavy intramural schedule was also arranged for basketball, softball, bowling, and rifle. Sports is an immortal American custom.

1950 FOOTBALL SEASON

The Vikings of 1950 compiled the best football record since the campaign of 1945. The team won four, lost four and tied one. Ten days of hard training at Cambridge Springs preceded the rugged season which had seven WPIAL Class "AA" opponents.

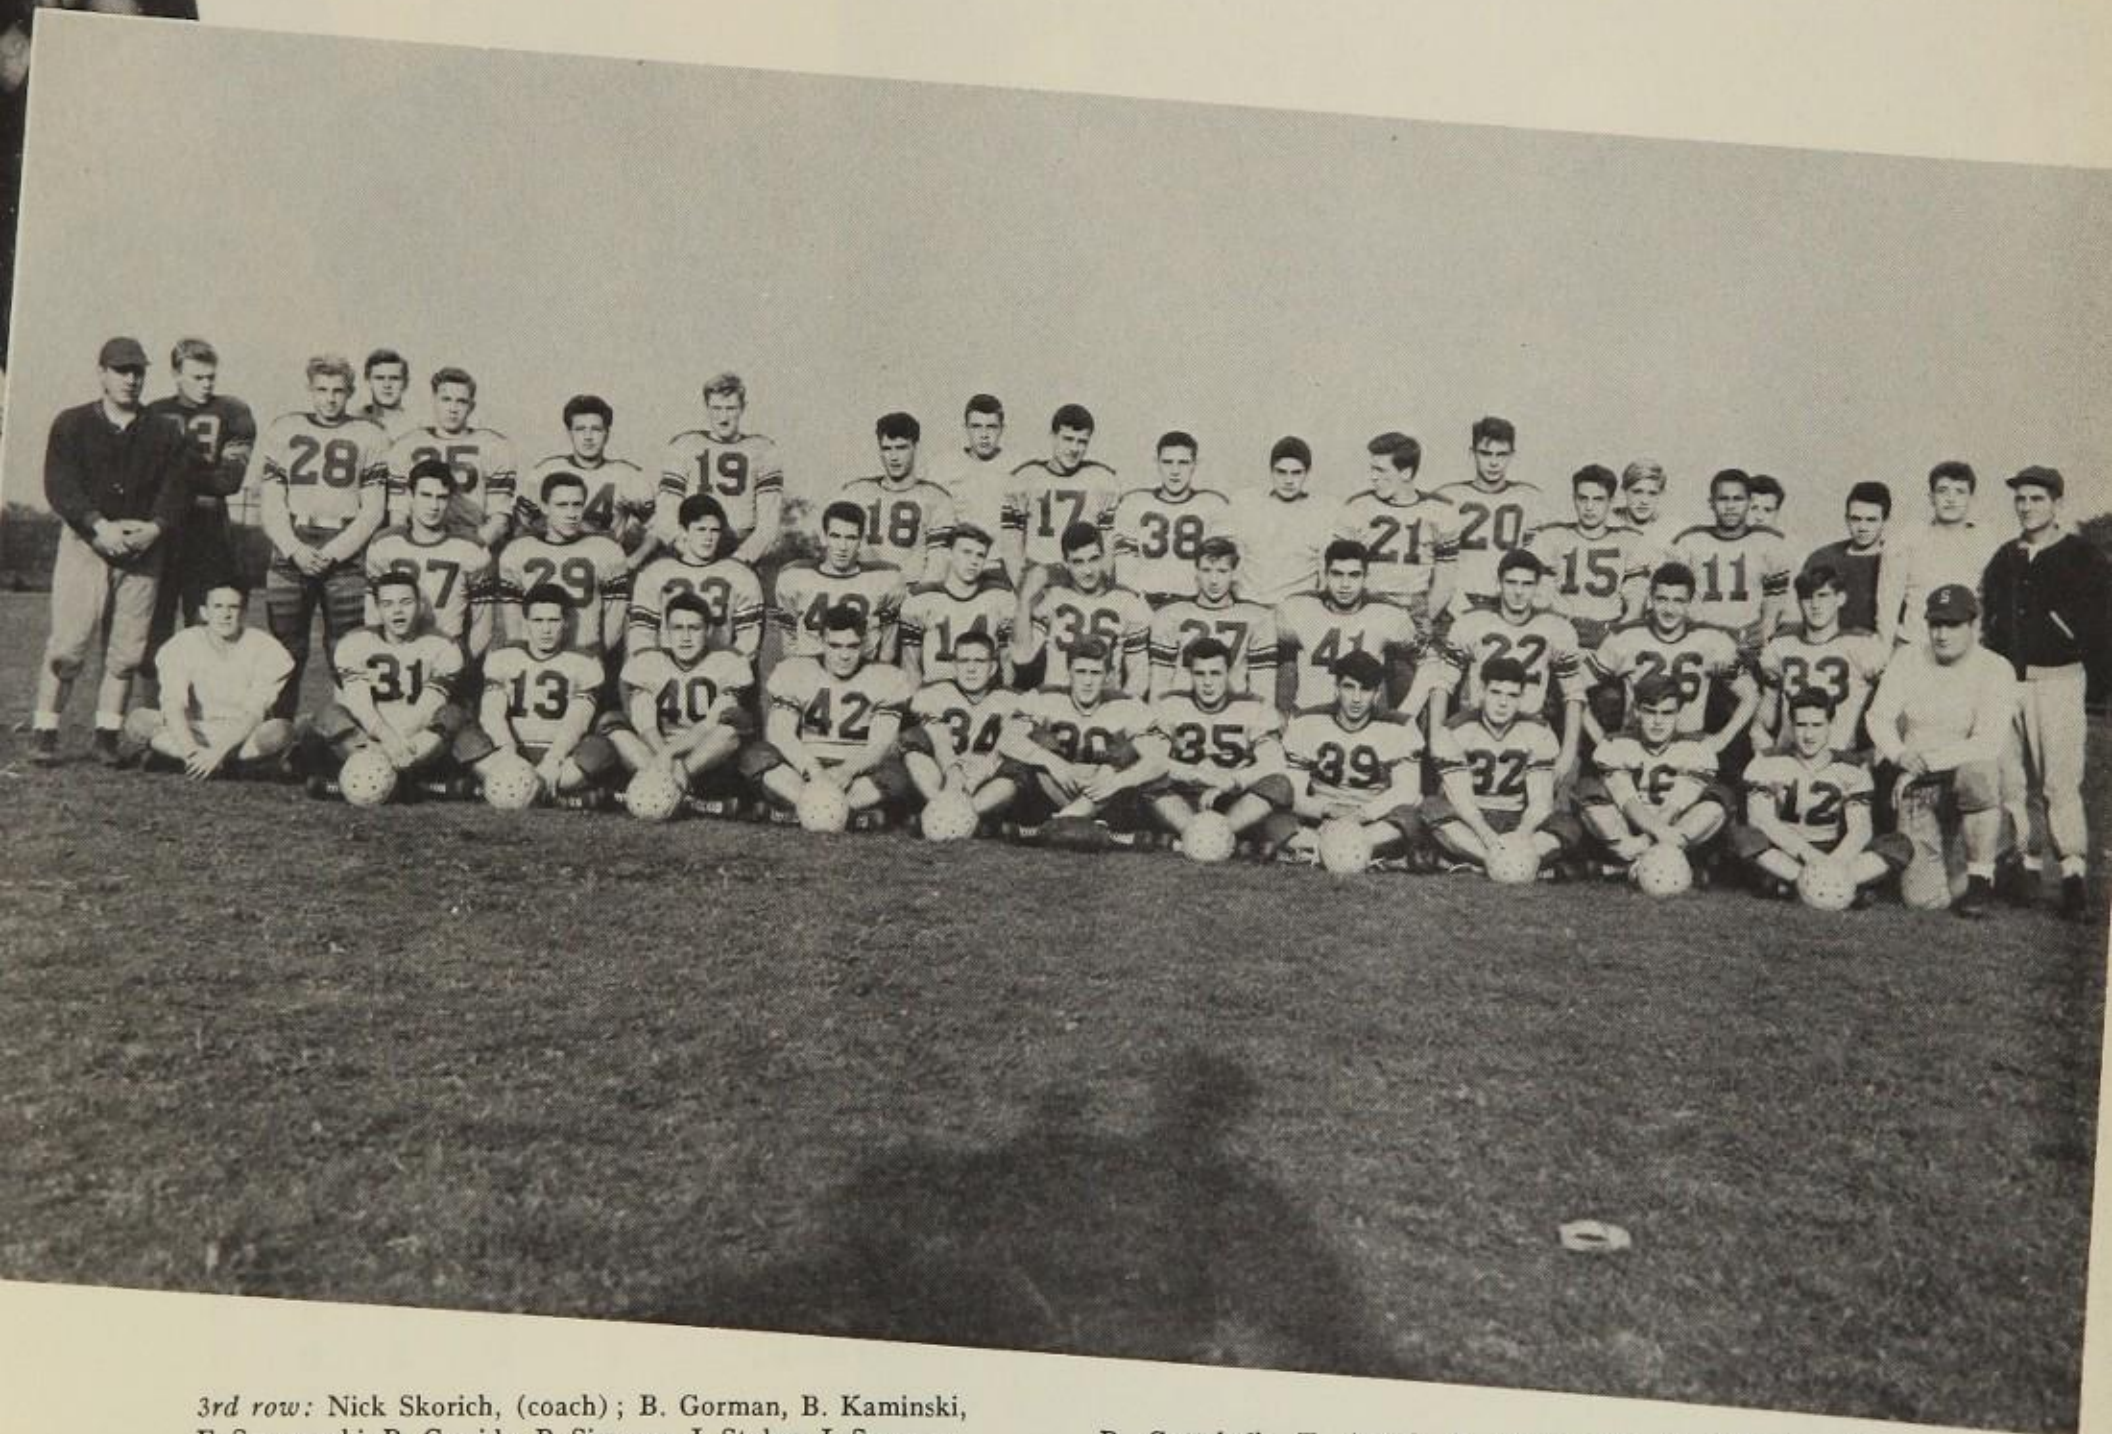

The Blue and Gold won the opener from Turtle Creek, edging the Creekers 14-13. Franny Byrnes scored the first TD of the year on a 51 yard pass from Don Schaefer. Don Bailey made the season's largest run with the second half kickoff, gaining 85 yards. As the season progressed, the Vikings improved. Losses to McKeesport (25-6) and Har-Brack (13-6) were games which the Skorichmen could have won if a few breaks had been available. The first victory since 1936 was scored over New Kensington by a 7-6 score.

Canonsburg and Central battled to a 0-0 tie although scoring opportunities were afforded both squads.

The Clairton Bears were next to feel the scourge of the Viking grid machine. Bailey scored fifteen points in leading Central to a 21-6 triumph. The bottom dropped out of the Viking defense against the Aliquippa Indians and a 35-0 drubbing resulted.

The Duquesne game was rained out and had to be postponed to a week after the North contest. The Vikings pounded out a 21-6 victory. Byrnes tallied twice.

3rd row: Nick Skorich, (coach); B. Gorman, B. Kaminski, F. Szymanski, R. Cassidy, P. Sigmores, J. Stokes, J. Sweeney, E. Malinowski, P. Cunningham, R. Ejzak, J. Delaney, T. Miller, D. Colcombe, J. Jim Flynn led the Viking backs in average yards per try with 6.1, carrying only forty-nine times. Next came Ron Sanders with 4.3, followed by Ray DiPasquale 4.1; Conrod Porkoyski, 3.8; Fran Byrnes, 3.6; Ed Verb, 3.4; Rege Cassidy, 3.0; Don Bailey, 1.9; Gene Gatewood, and Paul Signore failed to gain any yardage. Jack Muldowney led

the pass receivers with eight receptions. Don Bailey led the scorers with 31 points, Franny Byrnes was second high with 24. Then came Jimmy Flynn, Ron Sanders and Ed Vereb with six apiece. Bailey tallied four touchdowns and kicked seven extra points.

The most effective offensive weapon that the Vikings had was Jim Flynn. Flynn averaged 6.1 yards per running attempt, and was a continual threat.

Jimmy Flynn finds the going rough, as he is piled on by a host of Aliquippa Indians. The Vikings took their worst defeat of the football campaign in this contest.

Central's left halfback, Franny Byrnes, tries to move forward after having been downed in action against Aliquippa. The Vikings were overpowered by the Indians 35 to 0.

Ed Totin, stalwart center, leads a mass of potential Viking tacklers on a New Ken ball carrier, Vereb, Guttendorf, Ayoob and Muldowney move in also.

North Edges Central In Title Tilt

Before 4,300 shivering fans at The Stadium, North Catholic defeated Central 13 to 0 to capture the City Catholic Class "A" Championship. The game was played at 12:45 on Armistice Day. It was the first time the contest was not held at Forbes Field under the lights.

The Trojans received and drove deep into Central territory before losing possession on a fumble. A few plays later the Vikings were forced to punt. The Trojans moved into Central territory again, Richie McCabe, Trojan star, finally romped sixteen yards into the end zone for a score. The conversion attempt was unsuccessful.

Early in the second period the weirdest scoring play in the history of the Viking-Trojan series took place. Don Bailey, Central quarterback, attempting to skirt the end, juggled the ball and Winghart, a North end, snared the pigskin in mid-air and raced sixty-three yards for a touchdown. Franny Byrnes was the only gold-shirted gridder who had even a remote chance of catching Winghart, and Franny just didn't have the speed. The conversion was good and the Trojans had a lead of 13 to 0, which they never relinquished.

The Vikings battled furiously to try to overcome this advantage, but fumbles and other incidents thwarted all scoring opportunities. It was the first time a Central team was shutout by their Northside rivals.

Byrnes, behind good blocking, moves for yardage against North Catholic in the Catholic "A" championship game at the the Stadium.

By winning the City Championship, the Viking hoopsters automatically became eligible for the post-season state tournament. Central drew a first round bye and played Johnstown, conquerors of Erie, at the Pitt Stadium Pavilion in the final Western Divisional play-off. A gallery of 1,700 watched the Vikings and Johnstown's Crimson Crushers wage a furious battle. Central led at half-time 25 to 24. The Blue and Gold ran out of gas and the shooting faltered badly in the final stanza and the Crushers went on to a 42-39 victory.

Central connected on 16 of 67 field-goal attempts while Johnstown hit on 17 of 55 tries. In the foul department the Vikings made 7 of 17 free throws while the Crushers made 8 of 20 charity tosses. Ed Pavlick, JC center, was high scorer of the evening with 14 points. Rees James led the Vikings with 13 digits, Jack Twyman had 10.

Last minute instructions

The frosh basketball team, under the able tutelage of Brother Daniel, developed some dribblers who will, no doubt, star for the varsity in a couple of years. The yearlings were impressive on several occasions during the season, in which they took on all challengers. Most observers believe the excellent frosh and jayvee squads which Central produces are responsible for the phenomenal Viking records in basketball.

Jim Bridges, John Pospiech and Joe Davis glance over the score book at those "toughies" they dropped during the campaign.

Left: Ray Reardon, Joe Godzik and Jim Laffey prepare to take the floor. These Frosh gained valuable experience for next year.

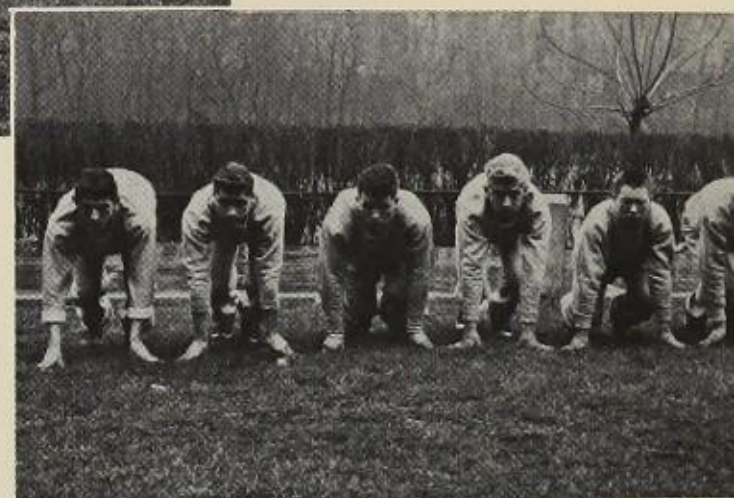

Frosh basketballers pile into their "bus" and will soon be headed for Homeville. The car should earn a letter also.

Tony Carrado was one of the outstanding weight men on the cinder-squad. Tony throws the javelin, shotput and discus.

It is difficult for hurdlers to develop grace and timing. These boys are Central's tops in the hurdling department.

The distance events are the specialties of this group. Endurance is stressed in the 880, and one mile races.

Tony Carrado demonstrates the proper grip for throwing the discus. His audience is made up of lettermen of the 1950 campaign. Left to right: They are Carrado, Flynn, Riedel, Connors, Mannella, Coyle and Kamisky, they were counted on heavily in this year's meets.

Under the able guidance of Brother Emery, coach and moderator, the Central Catholic track contingents of the past four years have compiled a remarkable record which can be equaled by few schools in the area. Exclusive of the '51 campaign, the Viking cindermen have been victorious in thirty-two consecutive meets. These wins were recorded over some of the districts better squads, including, Ambridge, Canonsburg, Brentwood, Carrick, New Kensington, Carnegie Tech Frosh, Jeanette Harriers, Turtle Creek, Allderdice, Schenley, Fifth Avenue, Penn and several others.

The Blue and Gold thinclads have also performed with considerable success at the Little Washington Relays, held at Washington, Pa. and the Wheeling Relays, and annual event at Martin's Ferry, Ohio. The cindermen annually make a bid for the Catholic State Championship at the state-wide meet in Reading, Pa., in early June. Brother Emery and his boys usually return from these gigantic meets laden with team and individual awards ranging from a small shiny button to an oversized gold trophy.

This phenomenal winning habit is no accident. Those, who expect to be regular track men for a coming campaign, must begin the training grind in early February, in an effort to be in the peak of condition and to have developed top form prior to the initial engagement.

Track has become Central's most successful sport with regards to wins and losses.

Cindermen Always Hard To Beat

On your mark! Get set! Go! These would-be successors to Mel Patton seem to be in A-1 shape. They form the relay team.

Hugh Boyle gets set to heave the discus in a practice session. A long training period is necessary to attain the form and poise which is needed.

Natators Overcome Extreme Handicap

Those who only consider the percentage of wins and losses would be prone to say that Central's swimmers had a poor campaign. However, if one will consider the handicaps under which the mermen labored, the season does not seem too bad. The swimming team had no training facilities, save the waters of distant Oliver pool. A swimming team without a pool is as handicapped as a fish out of water. The Vikings dropped their first meet to Duquesne 51-15. The Little Dukes are a perennial power of the water ways. This lop-sided loss did not dampen the natators spirit.

Form Is The Keyword

Orchids to Brother D. Linus who once again moderated two excellent bowling teams. The sport has grown rapidly at Central since Brother began the activity only a couple of years ago. Outstanding keglers have been produced by the truckloads, and many of them have won medals and trophies.

Don Bechtold was Central's outstanding keglers. His consistent high scoring gained him much recognition in district circles. Bowling is not a skill gained overnight, long hours of practice are necessary.

Team One always was high in the league standings. It is no wonder when such accurate bowlers as, Standing: Frank DeCarlo, Don Bechtold, Nick Landolina, Mike Messina. Seated: Paul Rentler, Sam McClean, James Barret and Fran Nemeth were members.

The senior members of the cheerleaders look over the schedule for coming games so that they might plan ways and means of reaching the games not played at home. Transportation is of the essence!

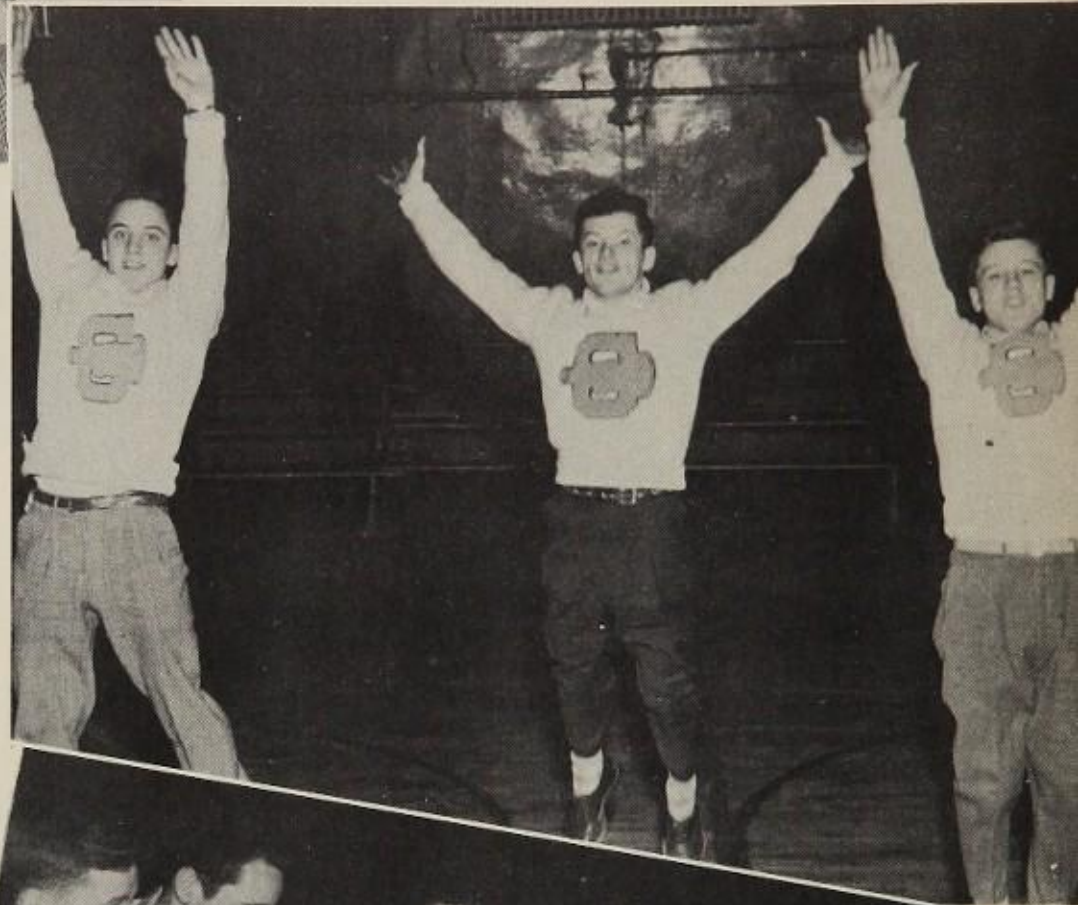

Here Dave Haering, Bill Murphy and Bob Patterson display the form which caused many a sore throat among rabid Viking spirits enthusiasts. Murphy and Patterson are veterans of three years.

Pepsters

Produce Pandemonium

An ancient adage reads thusly: "A chain is as strong as its weakest link." A modern version of this aged expression may be applied to sports: "A team is as strong as its student support."

It has always been the duty of the cheerleaders to engenerate student enthusiasm and cheering. There are many loyal, staunch and true Central rooters and they certainly had a capable energetic group of cheerleaders leading them this year. Brother E. James was the moderator of this crew, which did such a commendable job.

The pepsters form an instrument they use all through the football season. It is an appliance cheerleaders cannot do without—the famous megaphone. Physical energy and an unquenchable school spirit are requisites for cheerleaders.

Upper: Lawrence Langer, Gerald Sanders, and Vincent Walla check over the results of the days rifle activities. The charts are kept so that sharpshooting awards may be given on merit only.

Riflers pause for a moment to view the results of their volley of fire. The targets are checked and careful records are kept of each boy's shooting.

THE RIFLE CLUB

The rifle club, judging from its large membership, is one of Central's most popular extra-curricular activities. The late Brother Denis of Jesus and Brother E. Leo, the present moderator, have improved both the club members and facilities. The club rarely schedules meets outside the school. However, inter-club battles are a frequent occurrence. Medals and honor awards are given those sharpshooters who merit them.

Upper left: Ready, aim, fire! Herman Lienemann, Raymond Nardi, and Raymond Giavannelli appear ready to do just that. The rifle club always stress "safety first." They haven't lost a member yet.

These boys anxiously await their turn on the firing line. Many members of the club own their own rifles. For those who don't the club supplies several .22 caliber guns.

Sharpshooters Emphasize Safety

The Swatter's Story

Don Riedel and Bob Charland are Central's hopes for a good tennis squad next year. This pair of Juniors with the added experience will be hard to beat in '52.

A sunny day and the "szock" of a ball against a racquet can mean only that a tennis match is in progress. Tennis at Central has been a fixture for several springs and 1951 was no exception. At present Brother G. Lewis, the moderator, and Mr. Rauterkus, the coach, have been working together for two seasons and have developed some terrific tennis men.

Tennis is a sport which stresses most of the fundamental and outstanding characteristics of all other sports. Power, agility, endurance and accuracy are attributes of all renowned racqueteers. Perhaps a future Bill Tilden or Bobby Riggs will claim Central as his Alma Mater!

Intramurals Provide Exercise And Entertainment

The action pictures on these two pages give you an idea of how hard the class teams battle for the honor of becoming champions of their department. This year the Shaughnessy playoff rules were invoked, which made the games even more hard fought. The intramurals also demonstrate how successful an enterprise can be if there is co-operation. The faculty, students, athletic department and school administration had to work together in order to promote the interclass leagues.

Action is hot and heavy

Class spirit is a necessity

Competition

As Tough As N. I. T.

The homeroom teachers accepted the responsibility of moderating their class teams, and in many cases made sacrifices to do so. All officiating was handled by Brothers who volunteered. The students had to band themselves together as a team, and in some instances gave up considerable time for practice.

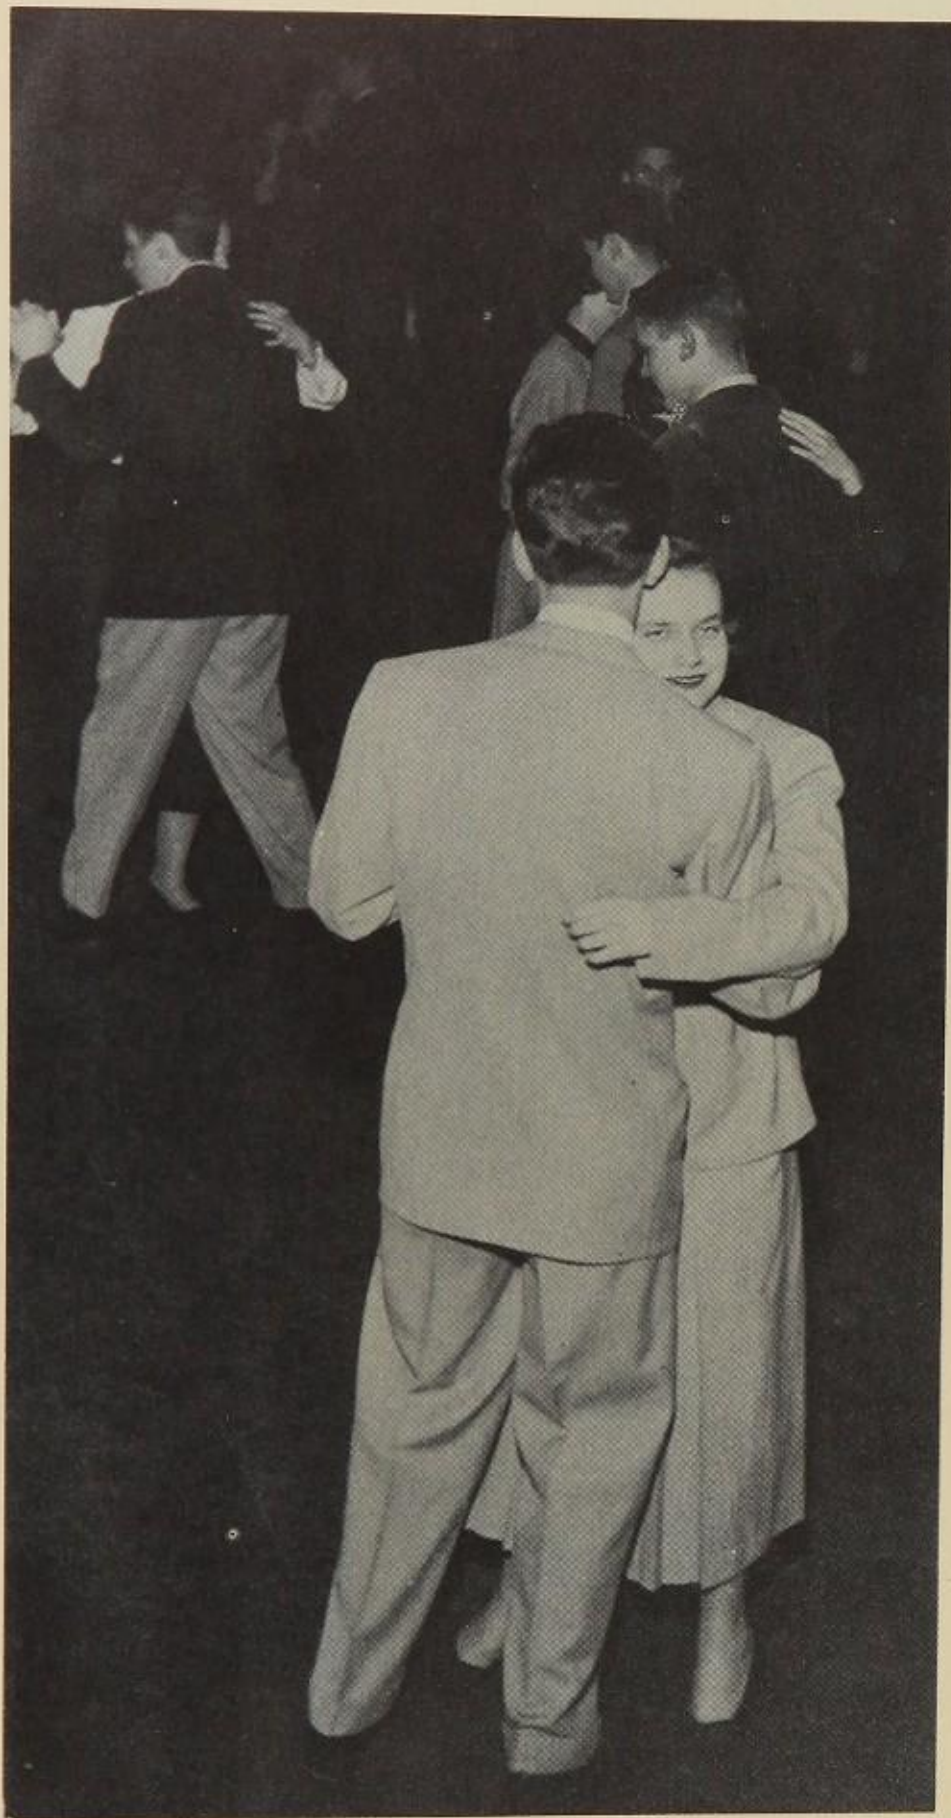

Balls and jerseys were supplied by the athletic department. The jerseys were used so that all the players of one team could be easily distinguished from the opposing players. Several sets of jerseys were available.

Is it in or not?

Intramurals provide an outlet for energy

*N*O STUDENT'S LIFE is complete without active participation in socials, proms, and dramatics. Whether these activities are sponsored by Central or in the parish schools, Central is always well represented. The ambitious features produced at Central indicate the exceptional gift and ability of the producers and performers. Our plays and operettas are invariable Broadway hits, and the proms, each year, feature the best bands available. Success is taken for granted because of the perfect cooperation of our high school boys and girls. Any dramatic event at Central features girls from the parish schools. When the girls produce their shows, Central talent is certain to reciprocate.

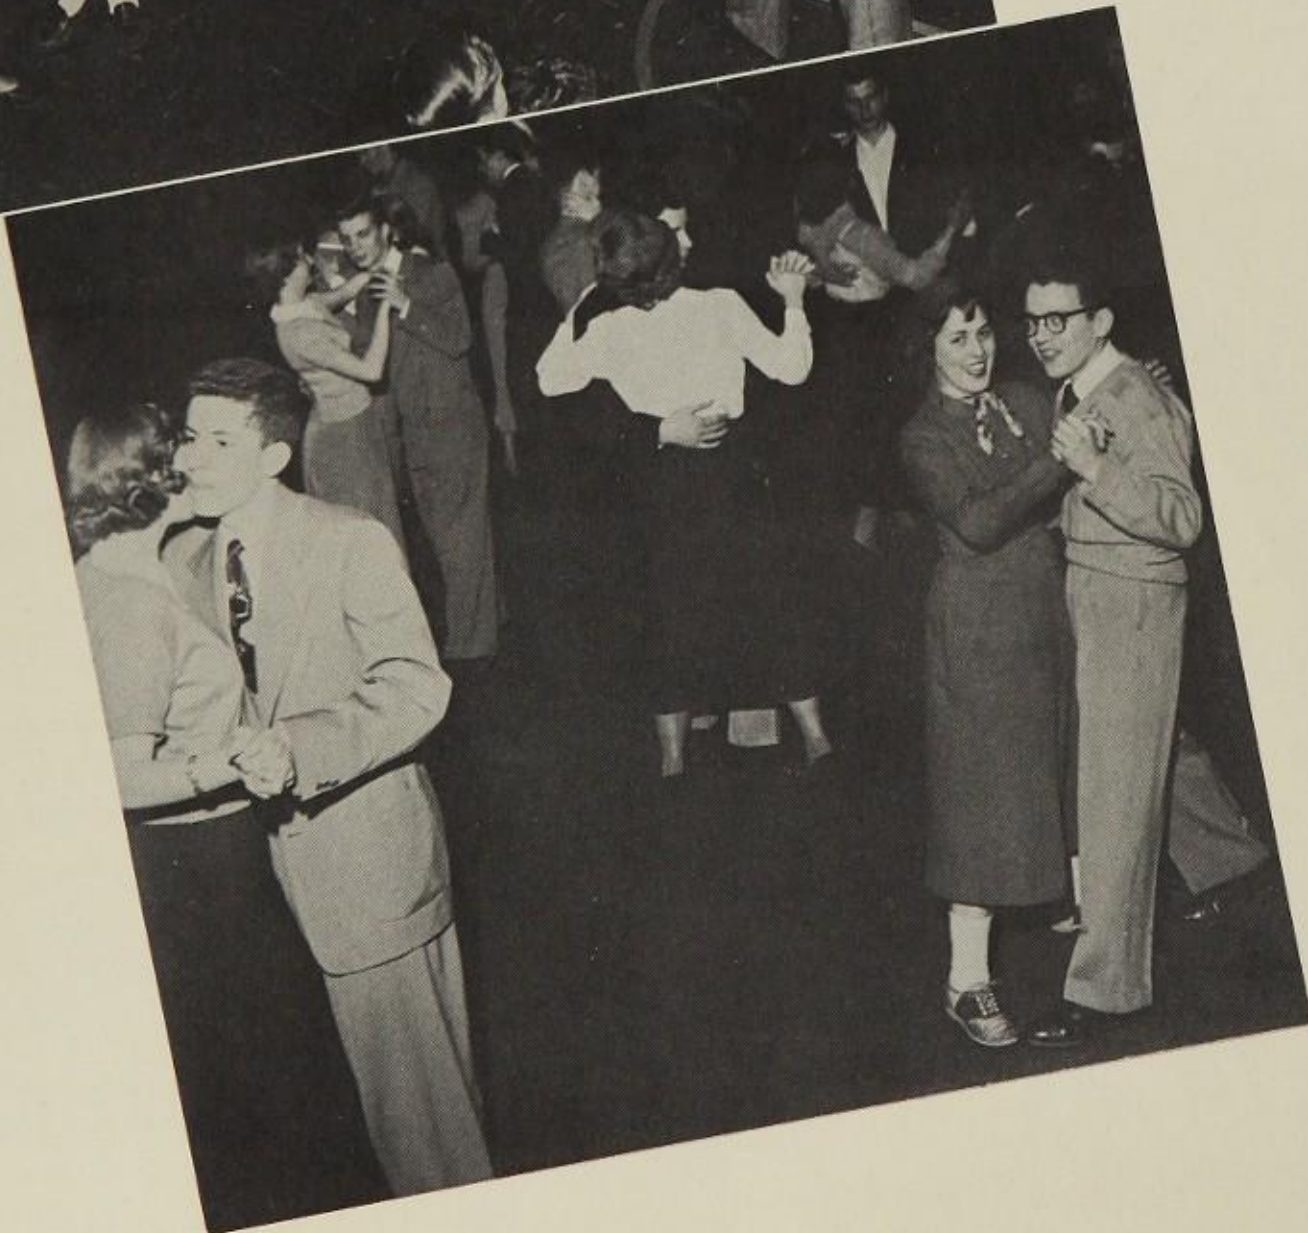

Features

Saddle Up

Some of Central's ballroom pugelists, do a little sparring with a few of Cathedral's cuties, while a few fellow strategists talk over battle tactics on future movements.

Hurray! The rat-race is on. The gallant girls bravely pit their wits and fleet-feet with the Central Catholic gentlemen. "Dry" Wells seems to have the situation "well" in arms as the soiree moves on into the evening.

Men!

A cozy scene at Sacred Heart, with dim lights and soft music serenading the gay Lotharios, as Tommy Smith tries in vain, to persuade his partner to accompany him for a "short snort" at the Brass Rail.

The dulcet music flowed as a stream of honey at Sacred Heart's gay social, while Rege Cassidy "chews the fat" with his fair-haired "femme fatale." The mellow fellow and his pert "skirt" seem to be having a pleasant time.

"There is a dance this evening at - - -" is a familiar phrase which often appears in our daily bulletin. These weekly socials which are held at various girls' high schools, play an important part in the development of our character, spirit, and personality. These gatherings have helped form many friendships, some of which may last a life time. They are also a means of bringing together the City's Catholic youth.

As a freshman one wondered why anyone in his right mind would prefer a dance to a good double feature. As sophomores the idea became a little more reasonable. When the junior year came 'round, we were regular "Gene Kelly's" at the dance. Then as seniors, we put our "best foot forward" to make each occasion a memorable one.

A much-heard criticism of C.C.H.S. is that a boy can not acquire a well-rounded personality in an all-boy school; that he will lack facility in conversing with the opposite sex. All that one must do to dispell this false idea is to look in on a Friday social at one of the diocesan parish lyceums. Here (as any girl will tell you), the Centralite is poise personified.

Of course the Junior and Senior Proms are the events for really showing our command of social decorum. Such affairs are "clinchers" to the fact that we are gentlemen as well as scholars.

"Two Arms,

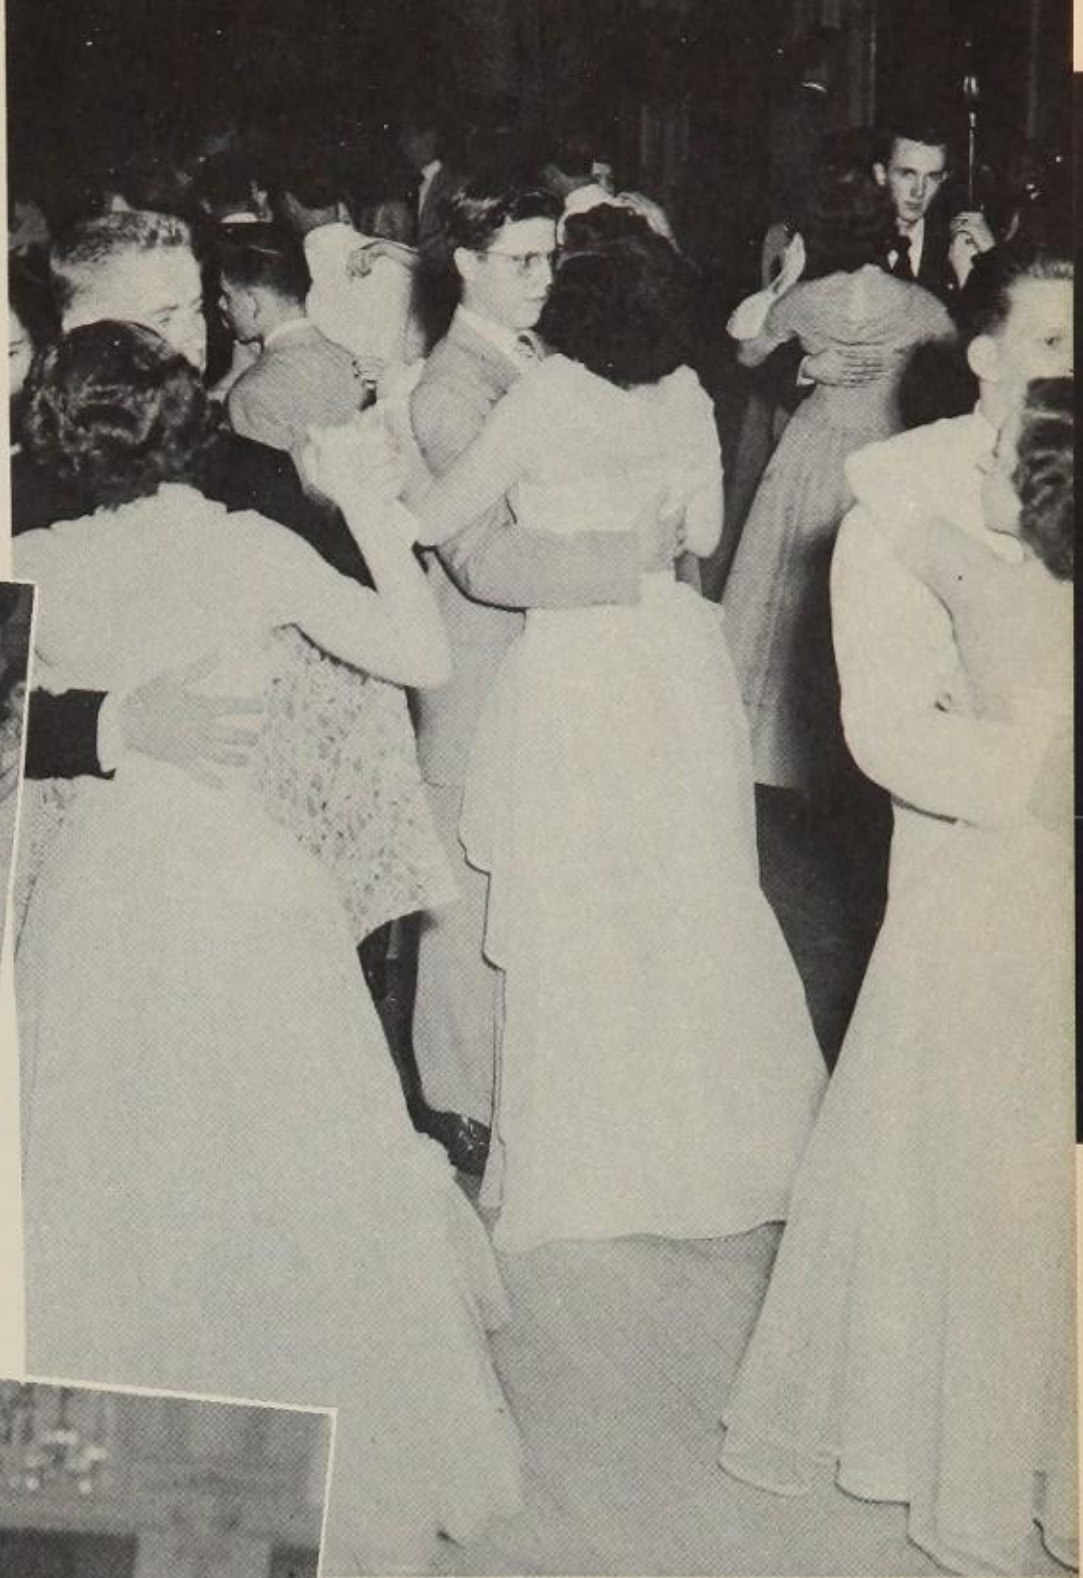

Come spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of you know what, and come spring, Central Catholic conveniently supplies you know what for the boys. To every young rose there's a blossom time, and for every young blooded coyote there's a time to howl, but to these red blooded American boys who study hard at Central Catholic, the Prom is the favorite means of fulfilling both the inherit needs. Yes indeed, the Prom is a needed form of education at Central, and we know that it will mean as much to students to come as it has to us.

The Senior Prom - - - Ahh! The big event of the Spring Social season. Here we see a group of distinguished Seniors and their clinging vines. That music must really be soft and divine.

Two Arms''

Under the glistening chandeliers,
The gay young hopefuls dance.
For after completing their full four years,
All the Seniors ask, is a chance
To be with their one and only.

The night was gay. The moon shone bright,
As we dreamed and danced that cool
June night.
The roses were fragrant. The lilacs were tall,
As my partner and I sat it out in the hall.

The music was soft, the lights were low.
We all were having some fun, you know.
We floated around this spacious floor,
And soon we were shoved right out the door.

"Every Day Is Ladies' Day"

The fun and excitement of rehearsals and above all the actual performance is reflected in the smiling faces and dancing eyes of the cast as the plot of the Red Mill unravels amid the glorious color of the Netherland countryside.

After such great successes as "My Maryland," "Student Prince" and "Rose Marie," many felt that it would be hard to achieve the high standards of musical production maintained by these. But all those who saw our fourth musical, "The Red Mill," will agree that it was an all out performance by a star-studded cast. This superb production was piloted by our able director of operettas and the maestro of the symphony orchestra.

MALE CAST (BLOSSOM TIME)

V. Acierno, W. Barna, F. Barrett, D. Bechtold, J. Boccella, R. Charland, J. Colligan, R. Coughlin, D. Croft, F. Ellis, A. Garrubba, J. Goempel, E. Greb, P. Greenaway, H. Grenesko, J. Hall, T. Brother G. Thomas

Credit for our successful operettas goes to the amateur actors who put in strenuous hours of practice on Sundays and weekday nights and to boys who worked quietly, unobserved behind scenes as a stage crew. Their work on this gigantic production was rewarded by the applause of a delighted and impressed audience. "The Red Mill," another hit, added to our rapidly growing list of musical successes. With four sensational hits already credited to Central's talented performers, we can easily prophesy that Blossom Time will definitely make it five in a row.

"All The Glory Of Love"

Central's only attempt at a dramatic production this year, and a very successful one at that, was the very wonderful "Blossom Time." As the scenes unravel, the audience is dazzled by the pageantry and color of the rugged German terrain, intermingled with the gaiety and laughter of the common folk of a country burg.

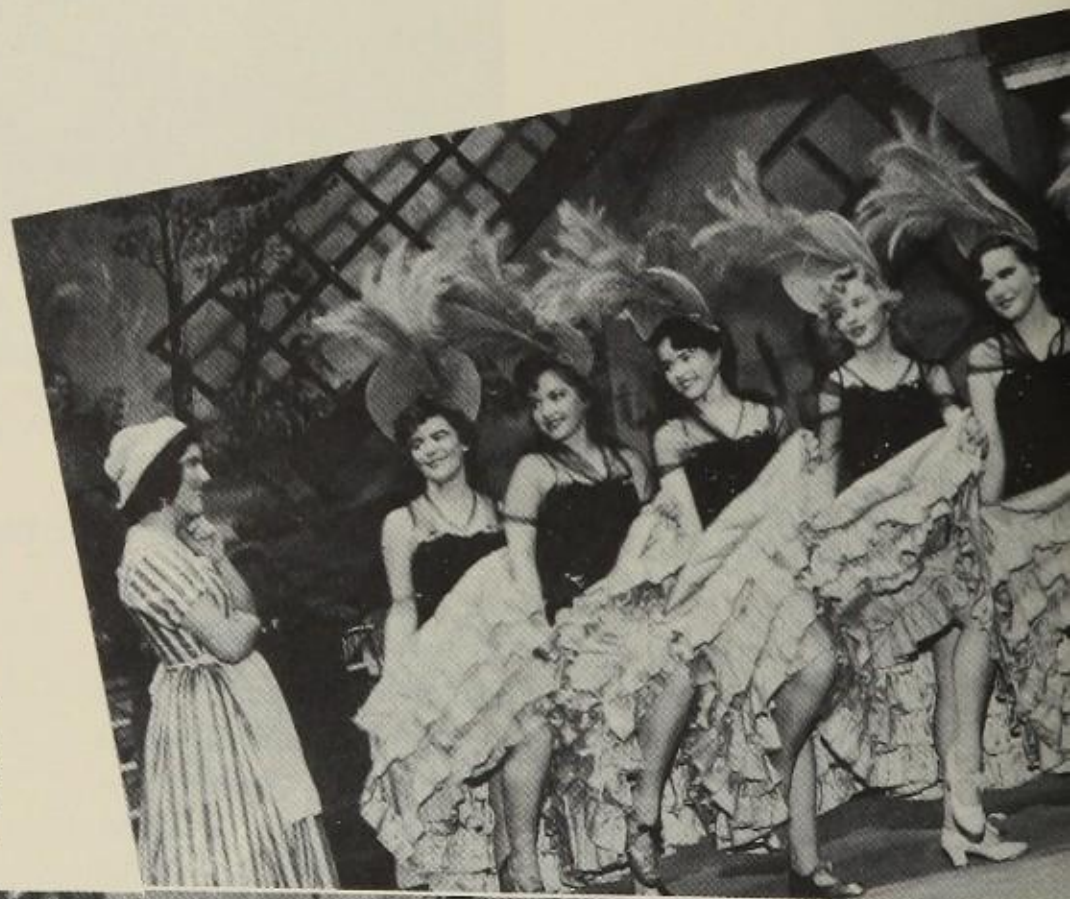

As the plot is expanded, the simplest tale of all time, that of love and self-sacrifice, is told.

Mitzi, the beautiful young daughter of the jolly Kranz, is wooed by the handsome Schober, in a most unusual way. Because of his shy nature, he is unable to state his love to Mitzi, and as a consequence, he hires the talented Schubert, who is secretly in love with Mitzi, to write love songs in her honor. As the beautiful strains of Schubert's "Song of Love" fill the air, Schober overcomes his shyness and tells Mitzi of his love for her, and she, her love for him, while Schubert is content to keep his own love secret, and sacrifice himself for his friends' happiness.

A highlight of every operetta at Central is the talented dancing of the girls from the Diocesan High Schools. The entertaining variety and the precision of performance combine to delight our audiences year after year.

The Red Mill, one of Central's most successful dramatic productions, was the result of the complete cooperation and unified efforts of the members of the cast and the directors. The outstanding costuming and scenery, as can be seen in the picture below, is a credit to Central Catholic.

These young lovelies will do their best to thrill this years operetta patrons, and enchant the heart of their handsome partners in Central's "Blossom Time Production."

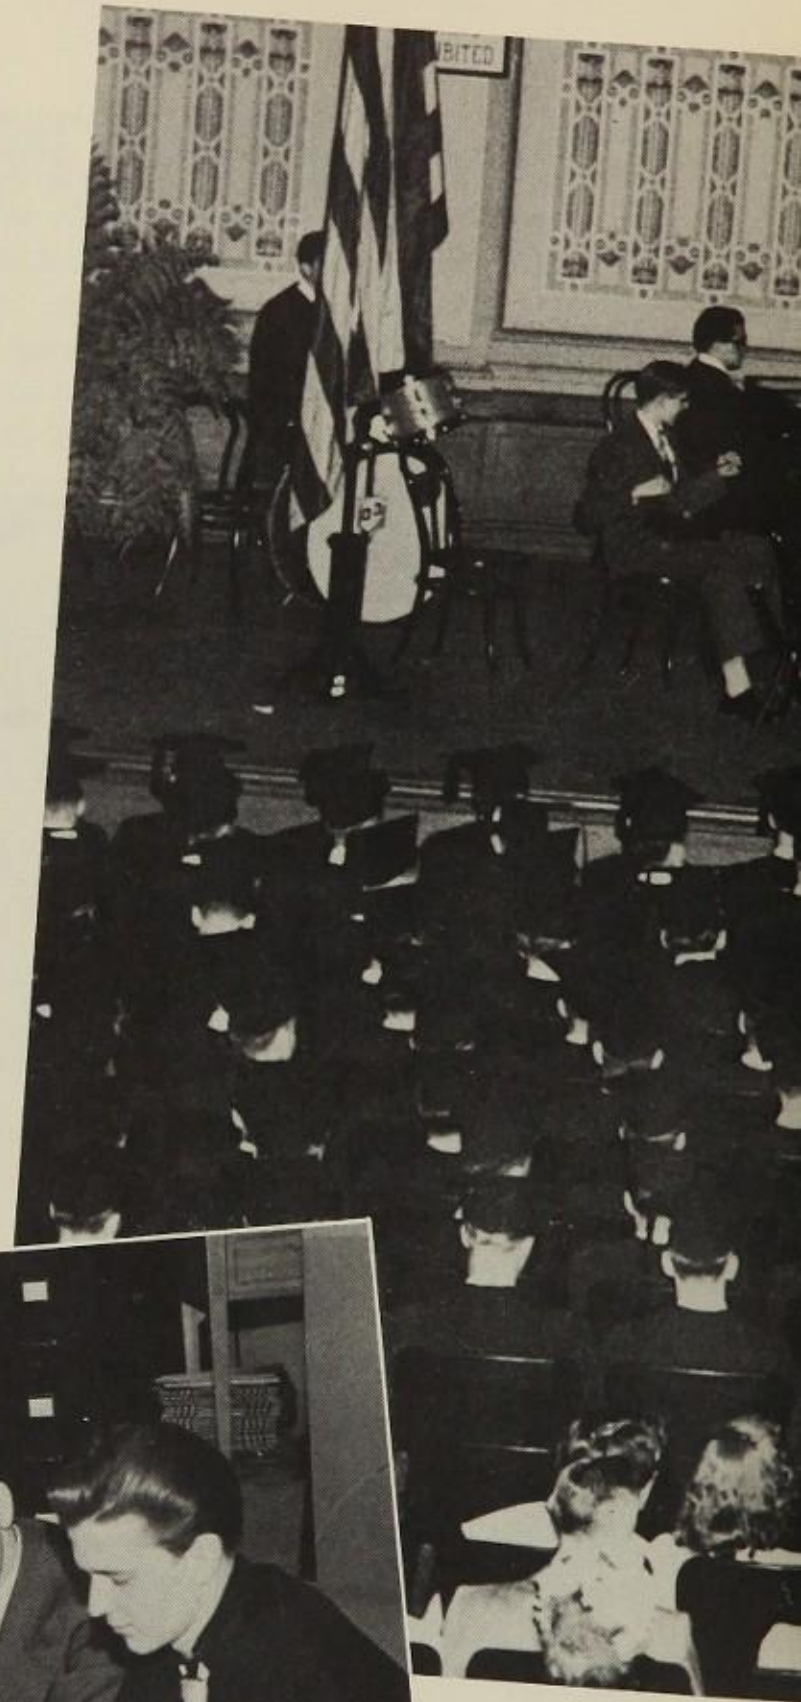

Several handsome Central boys and beautiful girls from neighboring high schools are caught here in the act of posing for a picture, and just at the moment when our photographer went by. Don't they look cute?

Move Over Men,

As we sit here reading this yearbook, we may never consider that if it were not for St John Baptist de la Salle, there would be no Central Catholic High School. If we just paused for a moment in thought, we would realize that the effects of this man's genius have been tremendous on our school life. During the years since he instituted the Christian Brothers, generations have been taught by them. Millions more have felt their influence by association with men who have received their instruction. In years to come, we will especially thank the Founding Father of the Christian Brothers for our religious training which he made possible. Central Catholic is but one of hundreds of institutions which have resulted from the great saint's work; the forty religious who serve us are but a fraction of La Salle's army of teachers. Perhaps a simple equation may best express the importance of his work: Boys as students plus Christian Brothers as teachers equal well-trained Christian men ready to take their place in the world.

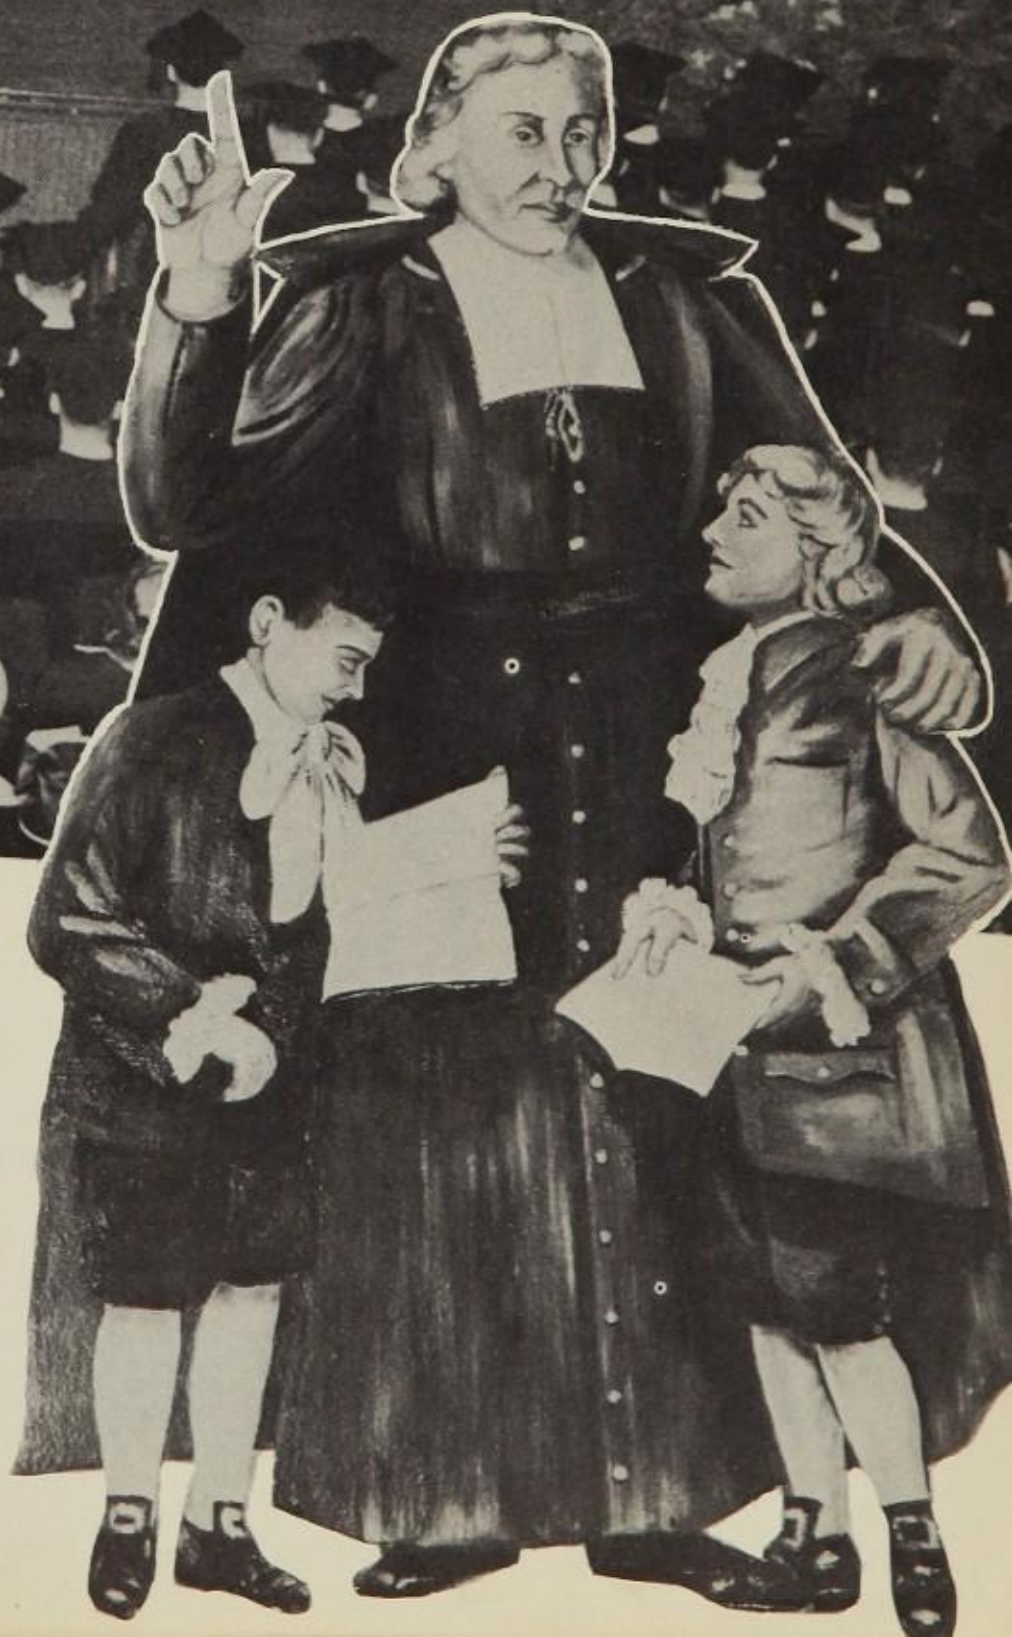

The Senior Prom Committee confers with the Alumni on last minute details of their forthcoming social, the Alumni Spring Dance. This year, the "piece de resistance" of senior activity will be held in the Hotel Schenley.

We Made It, Too.

Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall depicts this scene every June. All of us look forward to graduation. It inculcates in each and every one of us a new sense of responsibility. Graduation marks one of the important transformations from a boy into a man. The Class of '51 upon leaving school will be on their own. Good Luck.

CENTRAL CATHOLIC, our cherished Alma Mater has given us a distinction we shall proudly carry like a shining emblem, throughout our lives. We have lived in the holy shadow of St. John Baptist De La Salle, who has, through his blessed Brothers, been the greatest influence on our lives. As champions of his principles, we, graduates of Central District Catholic High School, will endeavor to be zealous imitators of Christ promulgating the work of St. John Baptist De La Salle.
